

Homesickness Grips County's Soldiers In Far Corners of Globe

An epidemic of homesickness is sweeping the globe and in the far corners suffer hundreds of Pickaway county's young men. Letters home do not dwell on the subject, but the fact is evident.

Corporal Earl Benton McClurg, son of Mrs. Proctor McClurg, of Duvall, has been in the service three years and has had no furlough in all of that time.

Recently his mother sent him some snapshots taken around the home place. Anything from home looks good to him. This is one sentence from his letter: "I sure like the looks of the sow. The boys here thought she was very nice."

And a paragraph from the same letter: "The last American camp we stayed in in India we had all American canned food. One day at dinner I sure did get homesick. They had HOT BISCUITS. I ate only three as I was ashamed to go back for any more."

And mail means something to the men in uniform. "I had a wonderful mail when we arrived here, four letters from you and 13 from others. Also five packages. I think a couple of your letters got lost somewhere, mom."

Corp. McClurg is learning something about how the other half lives. He wrote: "Stayed at two English 'rest camps' for a few days and I can't figure out how they put those places in the rest camp class. We had to sleep on the ground in both of them and the food was so bad in one that I ate in the mess hall only once in three days. I managed pretty well for myself, though."

SURVEY STARTS ON JOB HOLDERS WHEN JAPS HIT

Uncle Sam wishes to know what people were doing immediately prior to Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, and to the Bureau of the Census has been assigned the job of finding the answer in a sample survey of 68 selected areas throughout the United States.

Pickaway and Ross counties constitute one of these 68 areas selected for inclusion in this special study which will be made as part of the survey of the nation's labor force conducted by the Census Bureau each month.

Mrs. Helen C. Young, local supervisor, says that information on the pre-Pearl Harbor employment status of Americans was needed to determine on a national basis how many people engaged in household duties and other activities immediately before the country's entry into World War II have taken jobs since Pearl Harbor.

It was claimed that this special inquiry ties in directly with the information obtained each month from a sample of local families which is combined with similar figures from families in the 67 other areas of the country. The monthly survey provides national estimates of employment, hours of work, unused labor supply, and so forth.

Some special questions were asked last month concerning the extent to which married women with children or with husbands in the armed forces have taken jobs.

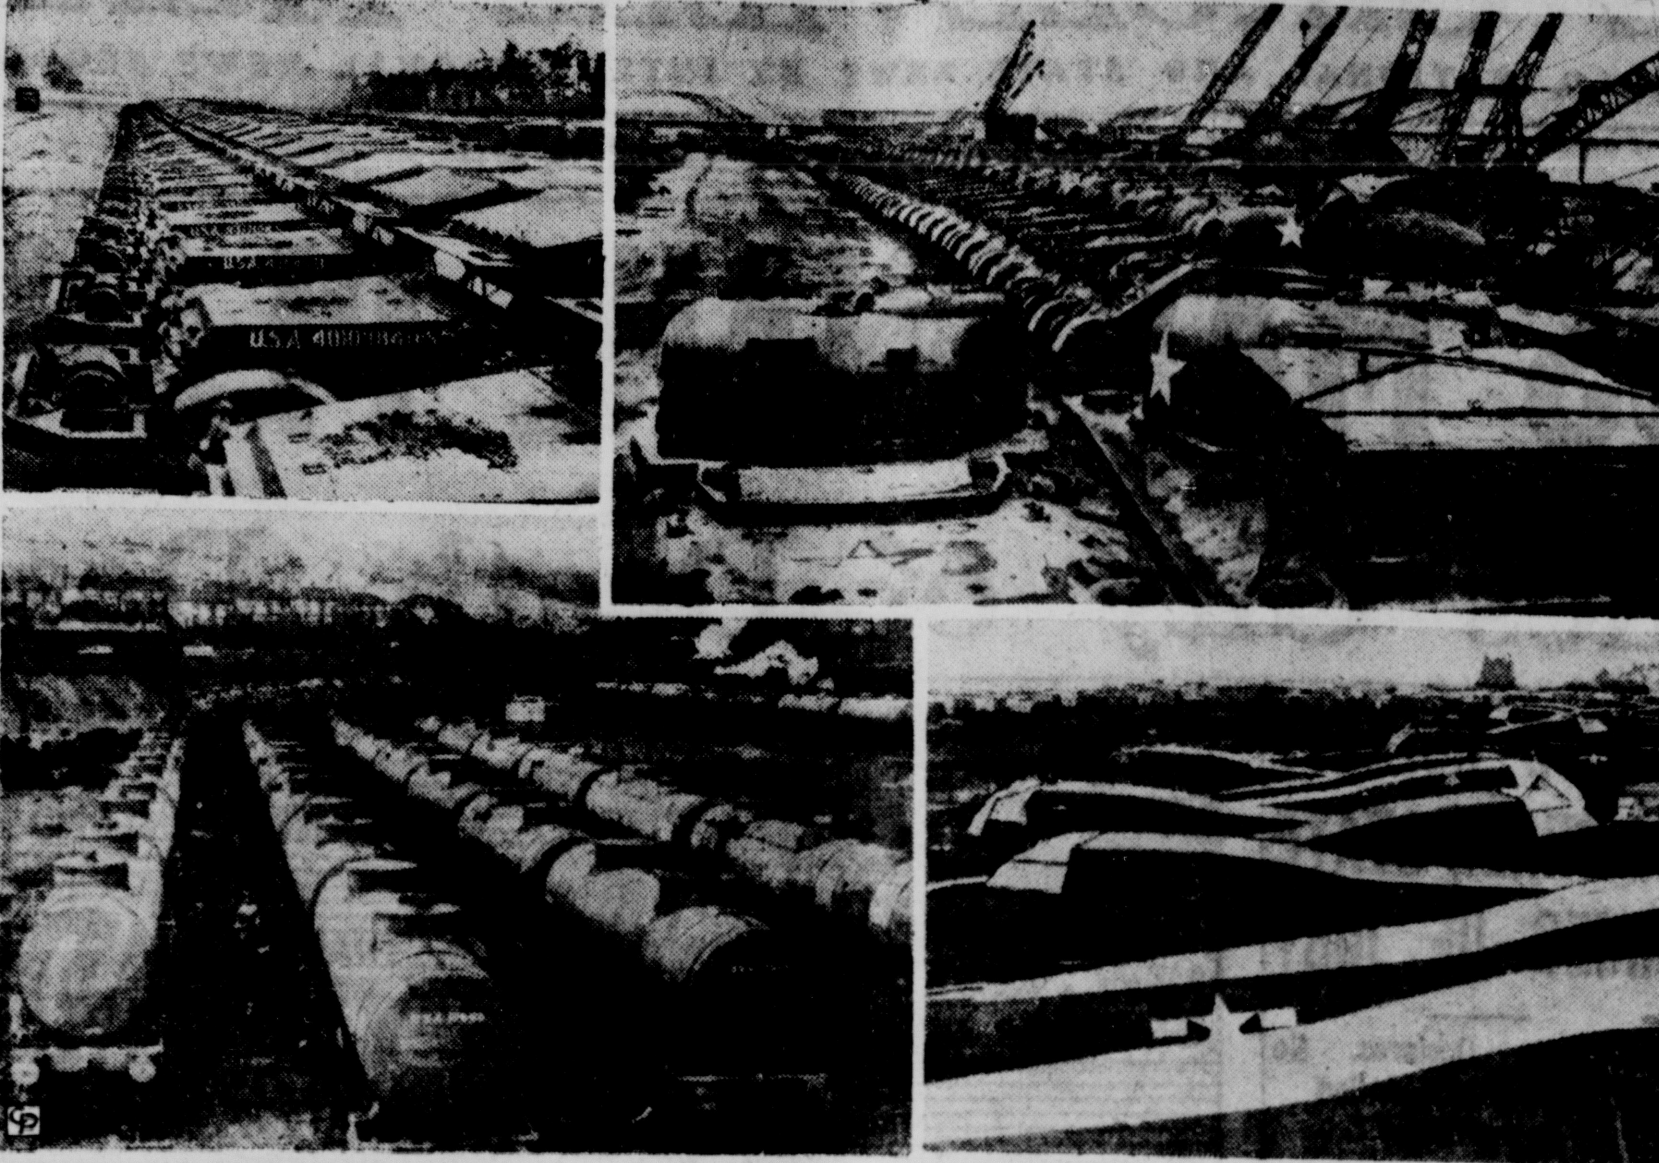

COUNTY GIRLS CLINGING FAST TO INITIATIVE

Pickaway county girls continue to hold the Leap Year initiative, more of them than boys being registered as arrivals during February. The count of Mrs. Harriett Wallace, local registrar of vital statistics was 12 to 7.

Girls were born during the month to Mr. and Mrs. John Seymour, Route 1, Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn G. Grubb, Route 1, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Roe, 551 East Mound street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Garner, 629 South Court street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee Funk, 654 North Court street, city; Mr. and Mrs. William Leroy Amos, 207 West Corwin street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warren Dille, 225 East Ohio street, city; Mr. and Mrs. William Jacob Bresler, Route 1, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dean, 153 Walnut street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eugene Cromley, Route 1, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Johnson, Jackson township; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Heiskell, 335 East Union street, city.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Schwalbaugh, East Corwin street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Lee Marshall, 213 East Mill street, city; Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Hill, 313 Lancaster Pike, city; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carroll, Pickaway township; Mr. and Mrs. Foster G. Penn, Route 1, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Speakman, Wayne township; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Irwin, 226 Walnut street, city.

Machines of War Massed in England Await Invasion Date

IN TREMENDOUS QUANTITIES American war equipment massed throughout England, awaits the momentous day when Allied forces invade Hitler's Europe. Above are the combat vehicles, armored tanks, railroad tank cars and cargo-carrying glider planes which are only a small part of the war material which the Allied command is assembling to hurl against the Nazis. Much of the equipment is broken down for shipment from the United States, assembled and fitted upon arrival in Great Britain. (International)

OLD CAR PLATES MUST BE TAKEN OFF OF AUTOS

Police chief, William McCrady warned automobile owners Friday to remove both old license plates and license windshield stickers from their vehicles before displaying the 1944 plate. The new plate of which only one will be used, must appear on the rear of cars. "Be sure to donate the old tags to the scrap drive," the chief said. He warned that keeping an old tag on the front of an automobile after the new one had been put on the rear is a violation of the law and will result in arrest.

There are nearly 2,000 known species of mosquitos. More than 200 carry malaria.

RED CROSS CORNER

ON THE RECORD

When a square, beige envelope addressed in strange handwriting arrived by mail at the home of a woman in the Midwest, she put it in the window. She supposed it was a sign to show that she had donated to the Red Cross, for the envelope contained a disc with a huge red cross in the center. She left it there, until one day a visitor suggested it might be a record. The woman put the disc on the phonograph and heard the familiar voice of her son, who was convalescing at a Naval hospital in California.

The mother wept for joy, particularly when the voice said at the end of the record, "Oh Mom, please send me a pineapple beside down cake."

The cake was dispatched in double quick time.

Since March 1, 1943, 3,500,000 servicemen have been given personal aid by Red Cross Camp and Hospital workers.

BLOOD DONORS EXCEED QUOTA ON FIRST DAY

Pickaway county blood donors exceeded their quota of 175 pints of blood at yesterday's visit of the Franklin county Red Cross mobile unit, by 2 pints. The unit opened its two day session Thursday at the First Methodist church.

Many more persons appeared to donate than had registered their intentions and the local chairman, and those in charge were hopeful that today's results would be as good.

A blood donors club, formed at the Pickaway Power plant, sent 10 men in for donations. The local plant of the Container Corporation was represented by 30 donors.

Mrs. Hays, registrar said many persons came in to donate who said they did not have telephones and could not register but had read about the need, and wished to make their donation.

Today's session opened at 10:30 o'clock and closed at 2 p. m.

SEND COLLETT TO CHAIR, STATE URGES OF JURY

Prosecution Declares No Mercy Recommendation Is Justified

fession could not be considered because of alleged threats used to "force Jim Collett into admitting a foul crime he did not commit. Kirk declared acquittal is the only possible verdict in the case.

At the afternoon session Prosecutor Hill and James Linton, of the defense, were to present their arguments. It was indicated that the fate of Collett would rest in the hands of the jury before nightfall.

Reopening Denied

When court convened today Attorney Linton asked that the case be reopened to admit additional evidence dealing with the location of Sabina and custody of Collett's car following his arrest. The court ruled against reopening the case, but permitted admission of statements dealing with the fact that Sabina is 11 miles from the McCoy farm and that Collett's car was in the custody of authorities here from the time of his arrest until December 23.

Collett showed definite signs of tiring today as his battle for life entered its final phase. He was haggard and slightly pale and apparently spent a restless night in the local jail.

Alibi Hard Hit

Collett's alibi defense suffered a stunning blow Thursday afternoon when Rollo S. Kirk, of Wilmington, who has known Collett for 45 years testified that he saw the defendant in Sabina about 8 o'clock the night of the McCoy family slaying. Sabina is about 20 miles closer to the murder scene than the point at which Collett had testified he was at the time, in a stalled automobile a few miles from his own home.

Kirk told the jury: "I was at the intersection waiting on the light to turn to go toward Wilmington and a car came up at a pretty good rate of speed and the light changed and stopped the car coming east on the highway, giving me the light and I turned to the right toward Wilmington and it was Mr. Collett."

The defense had introduced evidence on speedometer readings on Collett's car in an attempt to prove that the car could not have been driven to Washington C. H. and back on the night of the killings. The reading was too low to have permitted the trip. In rebuttal the state called Edward H. Ellis, employe of a Wilmington auto sales company, who testified that he had examined the car and believed that the speedometer had been tampered with as "the cable was down." The examination was made after the arrest of Collett, a point which was stressed by the defense in cross examination.

Collett broke down for the first time during the trial and cried during examination by James Linton, his attorney. He was telling of a visit to his home with authorities in search of the revolver used in the murders. As he left the car his dog ran up and greeted him. "I petted him," sobbed Collett. A few minutes later Collett sobbed as he told the jury: "I said I killed Elmer but not the women. Thomas said, I don't believe it. I felt like saying I don't either, but I knew I did not dare to." Collett contends that Toledo detectives coached him in what to say to relatives who questioned him about the murders.

Detective Eckerman, of Toledo, was recalled to the stand by the state and denied any coaching of Collett in what to say to anyone.

fighting the war as well as in the interest of future generations."

The administration program calls for a one-year simple extension of the law. House anti-subsidy members already have disclosed they will renew their fight, while other demands for curbs on the power of OPA were made.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., proposed to limit OPA's power to "necessary" price control on basic products, while Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., said a court review of OPA orders and decisions is necessary.

Both Democratic Senate Leader Barkley and Speaker Rayburn of the house were revealed to be urging banking committees to report out a bill so that it can be passed before pressure is caused by the expiration deadline of June 30.

"Chances look pretty good for legislation," said Barkley.

Sen. Wagner (D) N. Y., chairman of the senate banking committee, arranged for the conference with Bowles. He said he was anxious to get both Democrats and Republicans in agreement on issues, if possible, before the bill is taken up for debate.

Wagner introduced the one-year extension bill in the senate while Rep. Spence (D) Ky., chairman of the house banking committee, submitted a similar measure to the lower branch.

He also denied the use of force or threats in questioning Collett before, during or after the confession.

Collett under cross examination declared that he was not in Sabina the evening of the murders as testified by Kirk. He was angry when he made the denial and again displayed temper in refuting a state charge that he had tampered with the speedometer of his automobile.

SOYBEAN MEAL CONSIGNED TO COUNTY DEALERS

Three cars of Soybean Meal were consigned to Pickaway county for the month of February. The first car containing 35 tons was consigned to the Ashville Grain Company. Ashville Grain Company and Scioto Grain & Supply Co., each received 10 tons. Teggard Grain Company and Orient Grain Company each received 6 tons, and the Alva Hill Grain Company received three tons from this car. The second car was consigned to Heffner Grain Company. This car also contained 35 tons. Ten tons went to Heffner Grain Company, Clark Hunsicker received 6 tons, Jones Mills, 6 tons, and Alva Hill Grain Company, 7 tons. The remaining 6 tons from this car went to Elmwood Elevator. Car No. 3, consisting of 30 tons, was consigned to Atlanta Grain Company. Ten tons each went to Atlanta Grain Company, New Holland Grain Company and Pickaway Grain Company.

The cost of this meal to the farmer is $58.53 unless the car comes through a broker, in which case a brokerage charge is made and the farmer must then pay $59.03 a ton.

Under Food Production Order No. 9, Revision 3, covering limitations on sale, shipment, and inventories of protein meal and on use of soybean products, no farmer may purchase more than one ton and can have no more than a month's supply on hand including his purchase.

Another allotment of meal consisting of some linseed meal and the remaining soybean meal will be received in about two weeks for the month of March.

drive southwest of Krivoi Rog overran more than 200 towns and villages, annihilated more than 8,000 enemy troops and advanced to within 35 miles of Nikolayev. This, the site of a key Nazi naval base, and Kherson—another Black sea port—were threatened by the Red Army surge.

Far to the northwest, another newly-initiated offensive by the left flank of the victorious First Ukrainian Army drove to within 40 miles of the vital junction of Zherinka, on the Odessa-Lwow railroad. The right wing of this force, having captured the enemy stronghold of Starokonstantinov, overran more than 60 miles of the double-tracked line to drive into the outskirts of Tarnopol. Fierce fighting was in progress deep in the city's defenses.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces in the Southwest Pacific increased the threats to the neutralized enemy base of Rabaul, in New Britain. From their beachhead on Williams peninsula, on the island's north coast, battle-tested U. S. Marines advanced three miles across the land-split to within two miles of the district capital of Talasea.

On Los Negros island, where American dismounted cavalrymen captured Momoite airfield and then cleared the Japs from the rest of the isle, the Yanks tightened their grip by destroying Jap batteries overlooking Sea Eagle harbor. The anchorage already is in use by American warships and supply vessels.

Once again, Rabaul was subjected to a strong air raid by American airmen who again failed to encounter enemy fighter opposition. Testifying to seriousness of the Jap garrison's plight was a Tokyo broadcast which quoted a Rabaul correspondent as saying the defending troops "no longer care what happens."

SECOND SON OF F. D. R. SAVED BY CANADIAN FLIER

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., March 10—The rescue of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt, and an American general from a "lost" United States Flying Fortress was revealed today in two letters from a Canadian flier with the RAF.

The letters, received by the Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Kennedy from their son, Flying Officer John B. Kennedy, told how the RAF navigator was assigned to find the lost plane near southern England.

McCANN SPEAKS AT MEETING OF ANGUS BREEDERS

L. P. McCann, extension specialist of Ohio State university was the speaker when the Pickaway county Aberdeen Angus Breeders Association held their meeting in Betz restaurant.

The meeting was devoted to the discussion and promotion of breeding of Aberdeen Angus cattle in Pickaway county. Following his talk Mr. McCann discussed with the members some of the present day beef breeding problems and beef herd management.

The association planned to hold a cattle tour April 14 when it will visit about 10 or 12 Angus herds in the county. The annual cattle breeders picnic will be held in August. The next regular meeting of the association will be June 9 and the sale of purebred animals will be held in November.

Marvin Hinton who attended the National Angus Breeders Livestock Sale in Chicago recently, gave a report of the sale. Five junior members were guests of the association.

BRICKER FLAYS ONE MAN RULE

they shall continue to govern themselves through time-tested institutions of self-government.

"Our American system was intended to be a government of and by laws. Under the New Deal it has become a government of and by men.

"During the last 11 years, those in power in Washington have permitted this nation to be blown off its course by the winds of absolutism, emanating from Europe. They lost faith in the capacity of the people to govern themselves."

To end the present so-called "one-man rule" in the nation, Bricker laid down the following four-point program for Republicans:

1. Get rid of needless bureaucracy, which the New Deal "can't" and a new administration "can" do.
2. Restore the balance between executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, with policy-making left to congress.
3. End the centralization of power in Washington and restore states to their rightful role.
4. Give the people the facts on every issue so their will can be fully expressed. Government must trust the judgement of the people.

Gov. Bricker cited what he termed President Roosevelt's supreme court "packing" attempt as an example of the "grasp for power" and his stand on soldier vote legislation as his unwillingness to heed the will of congress.

He charged that the President has said, in effect, that "if he cannot have his kind of a law there will be no law."

Pointing to the rift between the President and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, senate majority leader, over the recent veto of the tax bill, he warned:

"The only thing that can prevent us from victory in the Fall is a division in the Republican leadership itself." He added:

"I am personally more interested in the New Deal philosophy of government than I am in ever being president of the United States."

FIRE AND BOMBS RAVISH PROUD REICH CAPITAL

supplies to Nazi armies on the embattled Russian front have been badly hampered.

Morale was described as low, and the Daily Mail said that thousands of factory workers failed to arrive for their jobs. Police patrols were sighted on all of the wrecked, bomb-pocked streets of the city to preserve order.

Lack Of Opposition

Significant was the lack of any real fighter opposition when the big Fortresses and Liberators, and their escorts, blasted Berlin through 20,000 foot clouds in yesterday's daylight smash.

Though the flak was terrific,

German fighters were scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, as reflected by the U. S. communiqué in which there were no new claims of destruction of Nazi aircraft.

In Monday's raid, 176 German fighters were shot down, while on Wednesday another 125 were blasted out of the sky, for a two-day total of 301, a major chunk out of the Luftwaffe's strength. The result was that in yesterday's raid, only a handful of the enemy's fighters took to the skies.

American losses in the three raids of this week—Monday, Wednesday and yesterday—were 113 bombers and 28 fighters, a total of 141 lost, less than half the enemy's fighter losses.

During February, U. S. headquarters revealed, 24,000 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy's fighter-plane industry and other targets, crippling blows heavily curtailing manufacture of aircraft for the Hitlerites. During that same period, 905 German planes were shot down in combat, which was officially said to be "considerably more" than the enemy's fighter production capacity at the end of the month.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

OPEN LETTERS

TO EVERYONE

FRIENDS: Ever since shortly after Pearl Harbor you have been reading about blood plasma and the fact that every day it saves the lives of young men fighting so that you may remain at home in safety and comparative luxury. You know its value, realize that without it thousands of wounded boys would die every week. Yet each time that the Red Cross Blood Bank visits the city the Red Cross has to plead with you to donate blood. The vast majority of you turn a deaf ear to the pleas. Maybe you think it enough of a sacrifice that you can not obtain all the gas and rubber you desire for your auto, that you buy war bonds, that you forego some meat and sugar. All you are doing is putting the tools of war into the hands of our young men. If you think your responsibility ends there then your thinking apparatus is out of kilter. Probably the big reason is that the war is so far away. Casualty lists, however, are bringing it closer and closer every day. One day it might strike right in your own home. Blood plasma saves the lives of men who would die without it. Think that over before the next visit of the Blood Bank.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SCHOOL PUPILS

DEAR KIDS: If the adults of Pickaway county were as sincere as you in their desire to aid the war effort Pickaway county would soar over the top in all undertakings aimed at defeat of the Axis. I am mighty proud of the way you are buying war stamps and bonds, of your activities in the salvage effort and the part you play in all war campaigns. You seem to have real appreciation of the fact that this war is being fought on the home front as well as overseas, and that the responsibility does not rest solely with the young men we have sent out to protect us with their lives. I suppose you are wondering why the Red Cross has such a difficult time in obtaining enough volunteers to meet the county's blood donation quota? So am I. If they would accept the blood of boys and girls there would be no trouble in getting enough volunteers.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MAYOR GORDON

DEAR BEN: I like that idea of yours to ask cooperation of the kids themselves in solving the juvenile delinquency problem. Ever since there has been such a problem the adults, believing themselves to have a corner on all thinking ability, have been fighting it and getting nowhere fast. The thought strikes me that it is long past the time when we should call on the youngsters for advice. These kids of ours know what it is all about and have some really sound and surprising ideas on handling the situation that baffles us. We also are likely to hear that kids as a whole believe themselves no worse than us as a whole when we were kids. And they are probably right. Anyway, give them a hand in solving their own problems. We have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

TO MOTORISTS

FRIENDS: Permit me to pass on a little advice from police car, fire apparatus and ambulance drivers. They declare that you unconsciously are establishing a serious street and highway menace. The average motorist when he hears a siren is inclined to slow down immediately or to stop. If the emergency car is immediately behind, the driver also has to slow down and sometimes is delayed because he is so close he can not pull out to pass. The advice is to maintain speed when the emergency car is close behind, pulling gradually to the right.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COUNTY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Congratulations on your action in helping provide a stockpile of work against the post-war period when our county will be flooded with jobless soldiers and present-day war plant employees. Your highway improvement program is the result of constructive thinking and a far cry from the leaf raking programs of the bad years of the depression period. All others should follow your fine example in looking forward.

TO INCOME TAX PAYERS

PRACTICALLY EVERYONE: Maybe we eat after March 15, maybe not. War and experimentation are costly, aren't they? My "ouch" is at least as loud as yours.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RED CROSS CAMPAIGN CHIEFS

DEAR HARL AND BART: Yours is a big job, that of raising $24,300 right after the big bond drive and in the month of income tax payments, but I am confident you will succeed if intelligent effort means anything. We all know the Red Cross, the need of it and the esteem in which it is held by the men over there. What some of us might forget is that the quota is about twice as much as last year and that our checks should be twice as large. The goal is high, but the good people of the county will see that it is reached.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MARY VIRGINIA CRITES

DEAR MARY: Congratulations on your appointment as head of the Red Cross War Fund drive in the city schools. You have a big job ahead of you, but one I know you will accomplish. Here is a chance for the young folk to show the oldsters that they have been overlooked too long in serious local undertakings. Good luck to you.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER NINETEEN

As the little circle of light played on the various objects in Syria Verne's living room, Argus whistled. "Some spot," he murmured admiringly. "Look at that painting over there." He concentrated his flash on a huge canvas in a heavy gilt frame. It was a Van Gogh. The rug beneath their feet felt thick and soft. Built-in bookcases lined one end of the room, reaching from the ceiling down to about four feet from the floor. There were bookcases also on either side of the French windows.

In one corner, its back and one side surrounded with books was a satiny, square mahogany table. On it was a telephone. To the left was a lamp. In the space directly over its smooth surface and set in the bookcase was a machine that looked like a radio except that it had no dial.

"According to the diagram in the paper," said Argus, "Syria was found lying face down at the base of that table, with the telephone in her right hand." But this room is so comfortable, so well done. The pieces in here are the sort of person of excellent taste would spend years in collecting."

"It is out of character at that. I'll lay you a bet that Syria didn't furnish the place herself. If she had there'd be more chaise longue!" "Look at these porcelain on the mantelpiece," Ellen picked up two figurines, a shepherd and his shepherdess. She turned one of them over. Stamped on the bottom was the word "Limoges."

Then the detective directed Ellen to "start over there by the entrance to this room and pretend you've just come home. You hear the phone ringing. You come over and answer it. Just as you get the receiver to your ear there's a shot. You fall down at the base of this table. Got it?"

"Yes, but I don't like it very much." Ellen followed instructions. Argus watched her carefully. She stepped off the distance from the door to the telephone and picked up the receiver.

"Bang!" exclaimed Argus. Ellen fell to the floor. "Stay where you are a minute, will you, darling? Anything strike you as strange about that shot?" "It was an exceptionally peaceful bang."

"No, seriously. I'll show you what I mean. This table is in a corner, flush against the wall and the bookcases, which surround two sides. To the left is the lamp. Now, the only way to answer that phone was the way you did—walk directly up to it and pick it up."

"Yes, but—"

"Stand in front of this table again and hold that receiver in your hand for a second," Ellen did so. "Remember that Syria was shot through the chest as she stood there. Look around you. Where could the murderer have stood in order to have shot her through the chest? You're facing the bookcase and this built-in machine that looks like a radio but which is an air conditioner. To your right are more bookcases. To your left is a lamp and a chair. From the position the body was in when she was found, we know that some one must've been standing directly in front of her. But where?"

"That's right. Unless the murderer was standing on the table. There's no room any place else." "Exactly. And the murderer wasn't standing on the table because the angle at which the bullet entered the body shows that. So that leaves two other possibilities. Either there must be a hidden panel behind the bookcase through which the murderer fired, or some sort of mechanical gadget must've been hidden behind the books or—wait a minute—"

"But how—if it was some mechanical device, how would the murderer know that the bullet would hit Syria?" Ellen asked.

"I've got it! Yes! That must be it!"

"What must be it?" "This air-conditioning machine. Look at these little holes in the grillwork." The holes were about half an inch in diameter and formed a circular pattern on the face of the machine. "They serve as ventilators and they're just about the right size for a bullet to pass through."

"You mean—"

"I mean that I'll find a gun inside this machine. It's in the proper position, just over the table, so that any one picking up the phone would come in direct range of a shot."

"But even if that were true, I still don't see how the murderer could be sure any one would be around when it went off," Ellen declared.

Argus didn't reply. He was dusting some powder over the top of the air-conditioner. He waited a second and then blew off the excess. "Is that how you find fingerprints?" Ellen asked, following the operation with rapt attention.

"If there are any. I brought it along just in case."

"Are there?" Argus inspected the surface carefully through a pocket magnifying glass.

"No. I hardly expected to find any. I wonder if there's a screwdriver in the joint. Take a look in the kitchen, will you, darling?"

Ellen returned a few minutes later with a small screwdriver and a pair of pliers. Argus was squinting into the ventilating holes, one after another.

Today's Horoscope
With a quick perception and a keen understanding of human nature, you are led by suggestion rather than by force. The love and friendships you inspire are true and lasting, and you have no real enemies. You are observing, like to travel and will do so extensively. Varied influences operate in the next year. You should safeguard your health and that of the women of your family. Beware of accidents and deal cautiously with authority. Strangers will befriend you. Born on this date a child will experience many ups and downs in health and business. Many obstacles, however, will be overcome.

"Now I'll take the top off this machine and we'll see what we shall see." Argus suited the action to his words. It took the detective only a couple of minutes to complete the job. He took his flashlight from his pocket and explored the contrivance.

"Yip-pee . . . Here's the gun! Come and look, Ellen."

"Golly!" she exclaimed, leaning over his shoulder. "Then the murderer didn't have to be in the apartment at all when she was shot. But how did it work? Was it like a time bomb?"

Argus took down several books carefully and examined each one as he did so. Then he set them on a nearby chair. "There's a wire back here. Let's see where it leads to." Without touching it he followed its course back of some more books. He removed these likewise. "Look!" he said excitedly. "This wire leads into the telephone box where the bell is and it's all hidden from sight behind those books."

"What do you make of that, Argus?"

"Unless my guess is wrong, darling, it means just one thing! Syria Verne was murdered by telephone!"

"Telephone?"

"Yep. I don't know quite how it worked yet, but I will. He played his light along the bookshelf and the wire leading to the bell box. Then he returned to the machine itself. The gun inside was mounted so that the end of the barrel was only a fraction of an inch away from the ventilator hole in the center of the left pattern; one end of a piece of twine was fastened to the trigger and the other was fastened to the revolving axis of the blower that cooled the air. The wire from the phone box led to the switch that started the motor of the air-conditioning machine."

"Very ingenious!" observed Argus. "Our murderer seems to be something of an electrical expert. Apparently he also had a knowledge of this apartment and its layout, and knew when Syria would be out, so he'd have time to install it."

Something caught his eye and he picked it up. It was a short, bristly red hair, barely noticeable, inside the machine at the base of the gun mount.

"Find something?" Ellen asked. "A reddish hair. See if you can find an envelope to put it in."

Ellen found one in a Queen Anne desk on the other side of the room and handed it to him. Argus dropped the hair into it and placed the envelope in his pocket. Taking another piece of paper and a pencil he jotted down the serial number of the air-conditioning machine and the make. Then, adjusting his camera, he took a flashlight photo of the interior of the unit. He put in a new plate and replaced the expended bulb.

"Shhh!" warned Ellen. "What's that?"

Uses of Penicillin And Sulfa Drugs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I AM grateful that I have lived long enough to see a dream of my youth become a reality. When I was a medical student and young hospital interne we—my colleagues and I—used to speculate on some chemical which would enter the blood and kill off germs without injuring the body cells. Salvarsan, which came in my time, did the trick for syphilis, but the nearest we came to anything for ordinary germs was mercuriochrome, which we used to give for blood poisoning. It ended the lives of only about twice as many blood poisoning victims as would have gone ordinarily, and the experience made us suspicious.

Sulfa Drugs
Then came the sulfa drugs with their overwhelming success in just this field, and now a new drug, penicillin, which seems to be in many ways even better than the sulfa drugs. It seems to me a great credit to the medical profession that right at the time they had found a germicidal drug which worked in vivo, when another came along they started with equal enthusiasm to go over all the same clinical investigations on the new one.

We were told a decade ago that no new medical discoveries would be made by accident—only by planned experiment—but the discovery of penicillin was an accident. In 1929 Dr. Alexander Fleming, a London bacteriologist, noticed that some of his plate cultures of the germ staphylococcus (the pus producer) were contaminated by a mold, and that on the plates where the mold grew, the staphylococci did not grow. Following this up he identified the mold as Penicillium natatum and showed that on both cultures it displayed an inhibitory action on a number of germs both outside and inside the animal body.

Since then researches have advanced our knowledge of this product by leaps and bounds. A suitable method of making a potent extract was found, the proper strength, or dosage, of the drug was determined, its toxic, or dangerous aspects recorded, and its administration was found to be effective only if given by vein, or into the muscle, or topically applied to an open wound. The world generally does not realize how

Many DIFFICULTIES, delays and tenacious obstacles may be the means of impeding and postponing desired objectives, unless a most decisive, strenuous and aggressive mode of procedure be brought to bear upon depressing and frustrating circumstances. However, unreasonable force or over-zealous tactics are not likely to gain objectives, and there is little encouragement to be expected from employers, superiors, elders or others, who may insist on progressive and constructive policies before rendering assistance. Safeguard the health and personal safety, of self and family.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of delays, impediments and obstacles, difficult to overcome, especially there is meagre hope of assistance from elders, employers or superiors. Strangers may lend a more friendly ear. But persistent effort, patience, restraints but decisive and practical efforts to marshal constructive skills and talents may create a sound base for future success. Meantime shun accident, reckless acts and take care of the personal safety and that of the family. Possibly such impediments may vanish.

Kinds of Infection
I know little about penicillin, even how to pronounce it, because it is not yet generally available for civilian practice, but many hospital centers of investigation have shown in what kinds of infections it is valuable.

First come the pus infections with staphylococci. The sulfa drugs are effective against pneumonia germs (pneumococci) and streptococci, which cause certain kinds of blood poisoning, but not very effective against staphylococci. Now for staphylococci, carbuncles, infected bone (osteomyelitis), middle ear disease and several other forms of staphylococcal infection, penicillin is an effective killer. For these it has been called bacterial dynamite.

Against pneumonia and meningitis and gonococci infection it is also very effective.

Also against a number of rare infections of only occasional interest to the layman—the gas-forming germ, bacillus Welchii, anthrax, lock jaw, bacillus subtilis, etc. It has been favorably reported in the treatment of a few cases of syphilis.

It has the great advantage over the sulfa drugs that it is less toxic even when given in doses far above what is necessary for therapeutic results.

Ashville Garden Club Donates To War Fund

Mrs. A. W. Graham
Hostess For
Fine Meet

Ashville Garden club voted $10 to the Red Cross War Fund Drive at its meeting Thursday in the Ashville community hall. Mrs. A. W. Graham served as hostess for the evening and the splendid program was arranged by Miss Nelle Oesterle. Mrs. George D. McDowell, president, conducted the business hour.

After group singing of Irish melodies in keeping with the St. Patrick's Day season, Miss Oesterle presented Mrs. F. S. Hinkle in an informative talk on "Evergreens." Mrs. Rennie Sowers in a very practical talk, discussed, "Lettuce and Head Lettuce." Mrs. Wright Noecker told of "The Growing of Annuals" and Mrs. E. E. Borror's subject was "The Treating of Seeds for Germination." Mrs. Isaac Miller was in charge of the Garden Calendar for March. Round table discussion closed the interesting and profitable evening's study.

Pickaway Banquet

Members of the basketball team of Pickaway township school, cheer leaders and coaches were honored at the annual banquet sponsored Wednesday by the Parent-Teacher association of the school, about 200 guests attending the affair. Seated with the 15 boys of the teams of the school were five cheer leaders and eight guests.

The banquet was served in the school gymnasium which was gayly decorated in black and gold. Streamers from the ceiling led to the ends of the hall, one space being centered with a large gold star bearing names of the boys of the team, cheer leaders and coaches.

Renick Dunlap and Private Carl S. Burger were honored guests and speakers. John Hardin, superintendent of the school and coach, presented letters and awards.

A basketball picture and a football picture were presented later in the evening in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Harry Wright is president of the P.T.A. and was assisted by members of the group in arranging the dinner. Pickaway school Girl Reserves, assisted by Miss Ellen Bower, their advisor, served the excellent repast.

Business Women's Club

Business and Professional Women's club enjoyed a delightful guest night meeting Thursday in the club room, Masonic temple. An excellent musical program, arranged by Mrs. J. C. Rader, was presented at the close of a brief business session led by Miss Rose Good.

For the first number of the program, Miss Marvina Hennes sang "A Little Bit of Heaven" with her mother, Mrs. Harriet Hennes, as piano accompanist. Mrs. G. A. Snider gave a brief talk on the life of Carrie Jacob Bond who wrote the club song, "The Golden Key." Miss Hennes then presented the song, and also, "Perfect Day," another Bond composition. Group singing of "My Wild Irish Rose" concluded the music of the session.

Mrs. Hennes and Miss Good received prizes as the best spellers in the spelling bee in which members and guests participated.

Refreshments were served from a lace-covered tea table with a center arrangement of colorful flowers, flanked with yellow tapers. Mrs. Rader poured. Miss Minnie Palm and Mrs. George Barnes were hostesses for the lovely party.

Miss Brown Entertains

Miss Eileen Brown entertained members of the traffic department of the Citizens' Telephone company at a delightful bridge party Thursday at her home, 119 West Ohio street. After several rounds of contract bridge, prizes were awarded Miss Lorraine Noel and Miss Dorothy Smyth for scores in the games.

Miss Brown concluded the party with a buffet lunch.

Guests included Miss Noel, Miss Smyth, the Misses Margaret Davis, Lillian Wagner, Margaret Adkins, Mary A. Howard, Kathryn Lockard, Mrs. Edna Moon, Mrs. Bess Simson, Mrs. John Neff, Mrs. Irene Jenkins, Mrs. Margaret Shadley and Mrs. Bernadine Turner.

KINGSTON

The World Friendship Circle of the Presbyterian Sunday School was entertained at the home of Mrs. Alice Riegel Monday evening. Mrs. L. V. Baugues and Miss Marguerite Accord assisted the hostess.

The president, Mrs. Lloyd Evans, presided. During the social hour the committee served orange ice, cake, candy, coffee and tea. The decorations and refreshments were in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

Mrs. Jack Kingston of Fairfield, is the guest this week of her sister, Mrs. Leeman Routt, and family, and Mrs. Jamison's father, Warner Cowena.

Mrs. Cyrus Routt visited Friday and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Routt and daughter of Chillicothe.

Renick Dunlap, E. V. Graves, L. V. Baugues and Frank Sharp attended a dinner Friday evening, at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Columbus, for the Central Ohio Executive Committee of Boy Scouts.

Jesus Betrayed, Denied, Condemned

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson for March 12 is Mark 14:10-15:20, the Golden Text being Isaiah 53:3, "He was despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.")

THE TRAGIC story of Jesus' last days on earth is the subject of our lesson today.

Two days before the Passover was to be celebrated, His enemies were planning how to get Jesus into custody. They said, however, "Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar of the people."

At this time Jesus was in Bethany, at the house of Simon the leper. As he sat at supper with His companions, a woman came in holding an alabaster box of precious ointment. She broke the box and poured the ointment over Jesus' head. Some of the company were indignant, saying the ointment could have been sold and the money given to the poor.

Jesus said, "Let her alone; why trouble her? She hath wrought a good work on me. For ye have the poor with you always, and whenever ye will ye may do them good; but me ye have not always."

Judas Goes to Chief Priests

Judas Iscariot went from this gathering to the chief priests, to arrange with them how he would betray his Master.

On the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the pasover, the disciples asked Jesus where they would eat the feast. Jesus told two to go into the city and there they would see a man carrying a pitcher of water on his head. They were to follow him and where he went they were to say to the owner of the house, "The Master saith, Where is the guestchamber where I shall eat the pasover with My disciples?"

The man would show them an upper room which had been prepared for them. The disciples did as he said and presently they were eating the Passover in this room. Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me."

Jesus took bread and blessed it and gave it to His companions, saying, "Take, eat: this is My body." He also took the cup, gave thanks, blest it, and they all drank.

"This is My blood of the new testament, which is shed for many."

After they had sung a hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives and to Gethsemane, and Jesus took Peter, James and John with Him and asked them to watch awhile while He went aside to pray. He fell on the ground, asking that God would take the bitter cup from His lips, "nevertheless, not what I will, but what Thou wilt."

Finds Friends Sleeping

Returning to His three friends whom He had asked to watch with Him, He found them sleeping. Sorrowfully He asked, "Couldst not thou watch one hour?"

He told them to watch and pray, "lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit is truly ready, but the flesh is weak." Again He went away to pray, and again coming found them asleep. A third time He prayed, and became reconciled, and on rejoining the disciples, said to them, "Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough. The hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners."

Almost immediately the garden was filled with men armed with swords and staves, led by Judas who had said they were to take the man he should kiss. He went straight to Jesus, saying, "Master, Master," and kissed Him, and the rest took Him into custody.

The Chief Priests were determined to destroy Him, so they hired false witnesses, who told how they had heard Him blaspheme, but they could not agree among themselves.

During the trial Peter followed Jesus and was in the same building, warming himself at the fire. A servant recognized him and said, "And thou wast also with Jesus of Nazareth." Peter denied it, and then he heard the cock crow. Three times he denied he knew Jesus, the last time with cursings and swearings. A second time he heard the cock crow and remembered that Jesus had said, "before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice."

After the trial before the chief priests, Jesus was taken and delivered to Pilate, the Roman governor. Pilate asked Him, "Art Thou the King of the Jews?" Jesus answered, "Thou sayest it," and would answer nothing more. Pilate could find no fault with Him and suggested that he release Jesus. At the feast of the pasover it was customary for a prisoner to be released. The people, moved by the chief priests, said no, they would take instead Barabbas, a murderer.

"What shall I do unto Him whom ye call King of the Jews?" asked Pilate, and the shout went forth, "Crucify Him, crucify Him!" So Pilate, not being a strong man, let them take the Lord and lead Him away to abuse and death.

Broncos Stride Ahead Over Fallen Marysville

Ashville Quint Goes Into District Finals By Virtue of 55-38 Win

Completely outclassing their opponents and playing like champions Ashville's Broncos last night at Westerville downed Marysville by a score of 55 to 38 and moved a step nearer the district championship.

From the time of the opening whistle until the closing gun Ashville's class was a standout and the ultimate result was never doubtful. Ashville fans on the sidelines cheered themselves hoarse as their favorites set a pace that would not be denied.

Gregg, the Bronco center, counted 18 points for the night, but Marysville's super forward, Scheiderer topped him by one point. While Scheiderer hit the bucket from all angles his teammates were not so good

COACHES FAVOR UNDER BASE FOR GRIDIRON SPORT

CHICAGO, March 10—Western Conference football coaches agreed unanimously today that there should be a wider base for competition in the gridiron sport after the end of the war.

They recommended to the athletic directors of the conference, meeting with them in Chicago, that in addition to drafting schedules for the varsity teams, regular schedules also should be arranged for B teams and 150-pound teams, along with limited schedules for freshman teams.

The directors today were expected to select a site for the Big Ten outdoor track meet. Plans for baseball, tennis and golf also were before the meeting.

Representatives from Notre Dame, Michigan State, Iowa Pre-flight and Great Lakes also attended the sessions because these schools often engage in football and other athletic competition with Big Ten universities.

26 ATHLETICS SIGN ON DOTTED LINE FOR MACK

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 — Connie Mack appeared satisfied today with signed contracts from 26 Philadelphia Athletics who are ready to report for their first workout at Frederick, Mo., Monday.

The holdouts remained on the roster, while Buck (Bobo) Newsom just hasn't decided yet whether he will pitch for the A's this year although he is satisfied with the terms Mack offered. Pitcher Luke Hamlin signed a $4,500 offering, and Outfielder Bill Burgo thought $3,000 insufficient.

Connie didn't seem perturbed about the holdouts, however, asserting "I don't much care."

COULDN'T REMEMBER
VANCOUVER, B. C.—Confirming the legend of the absent-minded professor, Dr. A. F. B. Clark of the University of British Columbia made a discussion club waiting 35 minutes to hear him speak. When telephoned by the chairman of the club, he explained he had lost the letter inviting him to speak, and could remember neither where the meeting was to be held, nor whom he should contact about it.

SERVICEMEN TO DOMINATE MAT TILT IN EAST

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 10 —Servicemen will dominate the 40th annual championship matches of the Eastern Interscholastic wrestling tournament which opens tonight with preliminary bouts at Lehigh university.

Wrestlers from nine different teams will weigh in this evening for Army, Columbia, Cornell, Lehigh, Navy, Penn State, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania and Dartmouth.

Two of the strongest teams in the tournament, Army and Navy, have more veterans available from last year's championship matches than any of the other schools. On Army's eight-man team are five who competed last year at Philadelphia. Navy has four veterans from the '43 tourney, three of them defending champs in their classes and the only title holders entered in this year's competition.

Rosters of other teams were made up largely of Navy and Marine trainees with a sprinkling of civilian students. Lehigh entered the only all-civilian team in the tournament.

SIZE OF SCORE ONLY QUESTION FOR MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, March 10—The size of Michigan's winning score appeared today to be the only question needing an answer as Big Ten athletes rolled into Chicago for the 34th annual indoor track and field meet in the University of Chicago fieldhouse tomorrow.

A foregone conclusion was the fact that Michigan should win for the second straight year and the ninth time in 11 seasons. Also generally conceded was the possibility that the Wolverines would set a new point record by garnering more than a third of the 180 points available.

The lack of competitive interest in the meet centered attention on the chances of conference records being broken or tied.

DODGER HOPES DROOP AS BUMS MARCH TO WAR

NEW YORK, March 10—The hopes of the Brooklyn Dodgers took a nose dive today following the announcement by Branch Rickey that Billy Herman, Bill Lohman and Ed Head had been loaned to the Bums.

Rickey revealed that Herman is in the Navy and that Bill Lohman, a pitcher who took his physical Monday. Head, who Rickey said he had counted on to be the club's No. 2 pitcher, has passed his physical for the Army and is waiting to be called.

CASH SUCCESS INDICATED FOR STATE TOURNEY

Gate Receipts For Both County And Sectional Events Soaring

COLUMBUS, March 10—If county and sectional tournaments are any indication, Ohio's 1944 basketball championships are destined to be big successes from a financial standpoint at least.

State Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend today told International News Service that gate receipts for both the county and sectional events are running well ahead of 1943 marks. Several tournaments, he said, have doubled their receipts and in the overall picture he estimated 90 percent of all tourneys will top last year's totals.

And it's really a "break" for the scholastic teams, too, because equipment and everything has been about twice as expensive this year in comparison with previous years. The general upswing in receipts will go a long way in helping to breach the gap, he said.

All Showing Gains
Although final reports on many events are still to be received, Townsend said he felt sure almost all tourneys would note increases this year.

There were 83 county class A affairs in the state this year and so far reports have been received from an even 50. The biggest increase of all, Townsend said, was recorded in the Tuscarawas county tourney. The six sessions of the down-state affair attracted 6,492 persons who paid $2,894.15 to witness unbeaten Sugarcreek-Shanewille sweep to its 24 straight triumph. The previous tournament high for Tuscarawas was set in 1942 when $1,952 was netted, the state athletic czar said.

Proportionate increases were made by at least six sectional tournaments. Townsend said only a half dozen of the state's 15 sectional events have mailed financial statements to his office so far and all of them have showed encouraging advancements.

1943 Mark Passed

Townsend said he has received word from Edward B. Vonder Haar, manager of the southwestern district class B affair at Cincinnati to the effect that the queen city tourney already has outstripped the 1943 event from a financial standpoint.

"From the looks of things attendance is up throughout the state," Townsend said.

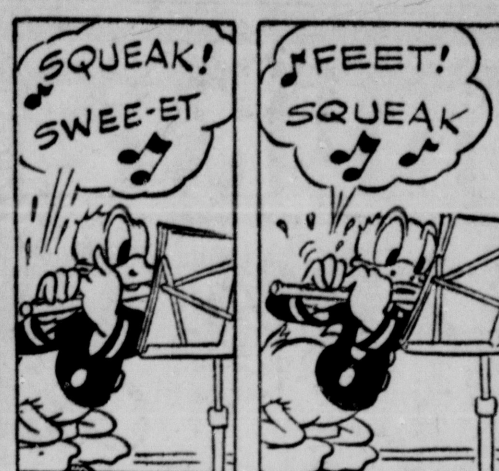

He predicted the regional tourneys would experience equally impressive increases. The state tourneys pose no attendance problem—at least from the standpoint of attracting capacity crowds. The real problem in this case is to find enough room to accommodate all those who want to go to the finals. The Ohio State university gym, where the Class B windup will be played, will accommodate only about 2,500 and the Columbus auditorium, site of the Class A event, will provide seats for upward of 4,000.

Despite the fact attendance increases are being registered all over the state, Uncle Sam—and not the scholastic teams—will benefit most. Commissioner Townsend explained the federal government will receive 10 percent of all gate receipts in the form of excise tax.

GREASE MONKEY SCHOOL

CHICAGO—Naval air transport service mechanics will be trained at the United Air Lines flight training center at Oakland, Cal., as a new feature of the company's war-aid activities, President W. A. Patterson of United announced this week. The company will enroll enlisted men from various naval air transport service squadrons and give them a 16-week course in all phases of aircraft mechanical work.

LAMOUR ON KAYE SHOW

Sammy Kaye will have two popular feminine stars, Dorothy Lamour and Cass Daley, as his guests for the program to be heard next Wednesday at 7 p. m. over Columbia. For Dorothy Lamour this will be her first visit with the "swing and sway" maestro, Cass, who has made two consecutive appearances before, will play the role of the "mutual friend" and handle the introductions between Sammy and his new guest.

DENNIS DAY GUEST

Frank Sinatra will play host to his first fellow-singer, Dennis Day, when the young tenor heard regularly with Jack Benny turns up as guest on Sinatra's Wednesday night show, March 15. In lieu of the guest, Bert Wheeler who has taken on the position as manager for "The Voice," will look forward to a busy evening "protecting interests."

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Two soldiers were chatting before airtime at the premiere of the RCA Program—The Music America Loves Best, Saturday night at 6:30 p. m. over the Blue network. Suddenly guest star Jeanette MacDonald walked on stage. They clapped enthusiastically and the corporal asked his friend: "Remember when she visited our camp last August? You ought to," he said without waiting for an answer, "after asking a singer like Miss MacDonald to sing 'Jersey Bounce'." "That's all right," said the serviceman, "didn't she tell me she certainly would be glad to sing it if he had heard of it before? I wouldn't be a bit surprised if she knows it now." The Corporal glared.

DON'T ALWAYS treat a good card player as if he has been playing perfectly. There are times when the best of them let their minds do a bit of wool gathering and make errors which you would not expect an ordinary one to perpetrate. When that occurs, give such a player a chance to suffer the punishment which his mistake deserves, instead of refusing to believe he has pulled a boner.

West decided that a heart lead was the choice among evils, so the 8 was won by South's 10 after East played low to hold his Q over the J. South now planned his play pretty thoroughly. He decided that the best way to run the diamonds was to score the A and K, then ruff one with the dummy's J. That seemed fairly sound, but East over-ruffed the J with the Q. If East had now returned a club, South would have wound up with one trick lost through the heart over-ruff, one in diamonds and two in clubs. East, however, decided somehow that a spade return was better. His 10 enabled South to use the A and K to discard a diamond and a club, so that South lost only one trick in each minor plus the one to the heart Q, and made his contract.

East could not believe that South was blank in spades. As he said later, he was sure South would have used the spades for discards as soon as he got into the dummy if he had been blank. Hence, he probably had two spades, and the return of them was innocuous.

MANY TO BE SURPRISED

Survey Reveals Majority
Happily Unaware Of New
Drain On Cash

Postoffice employees of Pickaway county are girding for trouble, and plenty of it. New postal rates go into effect March 26, and with them headaches for Uncle Sam's postal employees.

"Everyone will forget the new rates or out of habit use the old rates," the mailmen moan. "That will mean cluttered offices, return of mail and packages, twice the work for clerks, angry citizens. We'll catch it plenty for the increases and for everyone's mistakes as well. No one will be to blame except us. Only redeeming feature is that we will be so busy we will not be able to listen to anyone."

Rates Published

The new rates have been published and posted and everyone should know them, but they do not, a survey Friday revealed. Plenty of citizens were not even aware that a change had been declared. Some of them will be trying to send 2 cent local letters a year from now. And the letters will bounce right back at them. The new rate will be three cents. Surprised?

The new rates and fees are published again in the interest of postal employees and citizens who wish their mail to keep right on moving toward its destination once they drop it in a mailbox or the postoffice.

First Class Raise

First-class mail for local delivery, 3 cents for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. Old rate was 2 cents.

Air mail, 8 cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Old rate was 6 cents. The rate of 6 cents for each half ounce or fraction will continue to apply to air mail sent to or by the armed forces of the United States overseas through army and navy postoffices.

Postage on all mail matter of the fourth class is increased approximately 3 percent and each fraction of one-half cent or more will be computed as 1 cent, but in no case will the increase per parcel be less than 1 cent. This means that on all parcel post packages on which postage in the past has been 49 cents or less, the increased postage will be 1 cent per parcel. Packages on which postage has been 50 cents to 83 cents will be 2 cents more in each instance. Parcels on which postage has been from 84 cents to 1 dollar will cost 3 cents more. All packages on which the postage has been 1 dollar or more, the increase will be three percent.

Insurance Hoisted

Fees for insurance of domestic mail matter of third and fourth class will be doubled. Registry indemnity, not exceeding $5, will be 20 cents, the old rate was 15 cents. Rates for other amounts run correspondingly high. Collection on delivery charges will be doubled.

Money order rates also will be boosted from 6 to 10 cents; 8 to 14 cents; 11 to 19 cents; 13 to 22 cents; 15 to 25 cents; 18 to 30 cents; 20 to 34 cents and 22 to 37 cents.

A new air mail stamp in the 8-cent denomination is now in the process of manufacture. It will be olive green and of the same size and design as the current 6-cent air mail stamp. This 6-cent stamp will remain on sale for use on air mail to the armed forces.

Democratic Contests To Provide Highlights Of Approaching Primaries

Contests within the Democratic party will provide the highlights of the coming primaries, it was indicated Friday with the arrival of the deadline for the filing of petitions by candidates.

Four Democrats are seeking nomination for two posts on the county commission and petitions were in circulation for Harold (Happy) Claypool, of Chillicothe, former congressman, and Mel G. Underwood, Jr., of New Lexington, for Democratic nomination to the congress. Walter Brehm, Republican, now serving in congress is a candidate to succeed himself.

CHOCOLATE EGGS, BUNNIES AGAIN AMONG MISSING

Chocolate Easter eggs, bunny rabbits, and similar chocolate novelties associated with the Easter season will be missing again from retailers shelves this year.

Cocoa beans, original commodity from which cocoa and chocolate are made, must be imported. Ocean shipping has improved with present controls over the submarine menace sufficiently to increase the volume of imports enough so that candy manufacturers and other users can use up to 80 percent of the amount of cocoa they used in their 1941 base period. But, the manufacturer of solid and hollow moulded chocolate novelty candies is still prohibited by Food Distribution Order 25.

"The direct war effort continues to have first claim of ocean shipping space," he commented. "There is not enough space to satisfy war needs and also to bring in all the cocoa beans importers and grinders could use. Government authorities report that consumer demand would take considerably more of the cocoa and chocolate used in 1941, if they were available."

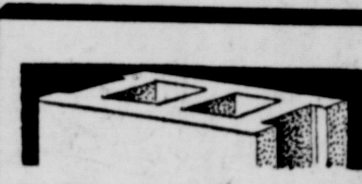

U. S. CONTROL OF BUSINESS AIRED FOR ROTARIANS

Rotarians heard a discussion of "Small Business and the Government" Thursday, the speaker being Victor Keys, of Columbus, president of the Ohio Cleaners and Dyers Association. Government control was criticised in many of its angles by Mr. Keys who said that business in general is looking forward to an end of the war and the return to American business practices.

Rotary voted a $75 donation to the Red Cross War Fund.

LONDON, March 10 — Berlin was a city of death and desolation today, ravished by fire and wrecked by bombs, after yesterday's new earthquake assault by hundreds of U. S. Fortresses and Liberators that met only meager fighter opposition.

Only eight American planes, seven bombers and a fighter, were lost in the fourth attack in six days by giant U. S. aircraft. The losses were well-nigh infinitesimal when compared to 38 bombers and 16 fighters lost in Wednesday's raid, and 68 bombers and 11 fighters missing after Monday's cascade assault against the German metropolis.

Though Berlin has slapped a strict censorship on reports of damage by the new American aerial offensive against the seat of Adolf Hitler's government, from neutral countries have come descriptions of the frenzy that exists in the capital.

These reports reveal the utter chaos that reigns in the city after the series of U. S. attacks, coupled with the tremendous night saturation onslaughts that have been staged regularly since November by the RAF.

Fantastic Havoc

The situation was declared by persons arriving in Stockholm from Berlin to be "acutely critical," and the Daily Mail quoted one eye witness with saying that the raids "are causing havoc nothing short of fantastic."

A Reuters dispatch from the Swedish capital attributed to another traveler this statement:

"Berliners now say 'what the Americans and the British don't destroy, we destroy by dynamiting buildings to isolate fires and help rescue work; this is true. Berlin has ceased to be a capital, or even a city.'"

The German capital's transportation facilities were said to have been so savagely shattered by the air blows that the movements of (Continued on Page Three)

ARMY ACCEPTS ROONEY

LOS ANGELES, March 10 — Screen Star Mickey Rooney soon will be inducted into the army. The 23-year-old actor underwent a pre-induction physical examination at the Los Angeles Army induction station and although turned down a year ago, emerged fit for "general service."

Capt. Richard Bong

Lieut. Col. Thomas Lynch FABULOUS flying circus team of Lieut. Col. Thomas Lynch of Catasque, Pa., and Capt. Richard Bong, of Poplar, Wis., flew through the air over Wewak, New Guinea, for the fifth time this month and shot two more Japs off their trapezes. Both airmen snared Zero fighters. Bong took down his total score to 25 and Lynch ran his to 20. Bong now needs one more enemy plane to tie and two to surpass the All-American fighter pilot record originally set by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in World War I.

PRICE CONTROL

Confident Extension
Will Be Voted

WASHINGTON, March 10—Administration leaders in congress launched a drive today for early extension of the price control act confident that it will be approved despite demands for revision.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles was scheduled to confer with members of the senate banking committee in secret session today in an effort to pave the way for settlement of disputes before the matter is sent to the senate floor.

Sen. Bankhead (D) Ala., a leader of the farm bloc and a foe of consumers' subsidies, predicted congress will extend the law. "I think members of congress realize that we cannot get along without price control," he said. "The necessity rises above all parties, factions and groups. We must have stabilization of wages and prices."

"In a war of this magnitude, I believe that within a short time a dollar would not be worth a dime without price control. "Differences are inevitable, but they will have to be submerged in the larger interest of the boys (Continued on Page Three)

Claim, Asks Acquittal
Of Clinton Farmer

WASHINGTON, C. H. March 10 — In one of the most dramatic scenes of local court history the state of Ohio today demanded that the jury trying James Collett for the murder of the McCoy family send him to the electric chair.

"Collett is guilty of the foulest crime of record in Central Ohio," thundered Simon L. Leis, who has assisted in the prosecution and who opened argument for the state at the morning session today. "He deserves no mercy for he gave none. He slaughtered a law abiding family in cold blood. He admitted the crime, and now in this court room has tried to make you believe that his confession was obtained by threats and that it is not true. I tell you that it is true. The evidence introduced moves beyond a reasonable doubt that Collett's confession is true."

Dramatic Scene
"Consider that one of the witnesses testified that when being questioned in Toledo after his arrest and at the time of his confession Collett muttered to himself, 'Jim, you have gone too far this time. They have got you.'"

Leis strode across the courtroom, pointed his finger directly at Collett and said, "Yes, Jim, you have gone too far this time. They really have got you." Mrs. Collett who was sitting next to her husband broke down and cried. Her son put an arm around her shoulders and comforted her.

Leis told the jury that to do its real duty it must return a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against Collett on each of the three counts of the indictment. "And I urge that you withhold any recommendation of mercy," he said.

Alibi Attacked
Leis tore into the alibi defense and said that it was exploded and torn to shreds by state testimony placing Collett in Sabina, some 20 miles closer to Washington, C. H., than Collett contended. He had told the jury that at 8 o'clock that evening he was in a stalled automobile near his home. At that time, a witness declared, he was in Sabina. He said that the defense contention that speedometer readings of Collett's car showed that he could not have made the trip to the McCoy farm and back the night Elmer McCoy, his wife and daughter were murdered, meant nothing. "For a competent witness has told you that the speedometer had been tampered with."

Leis talked for an hour and then gave way to Charles Kirk, of Wilmington, speaking for the defense. State testimony was attacked, particularly that dealing with intended attacks on Collett's alibi claim. He insisted that the confession (Continued on Page Three)

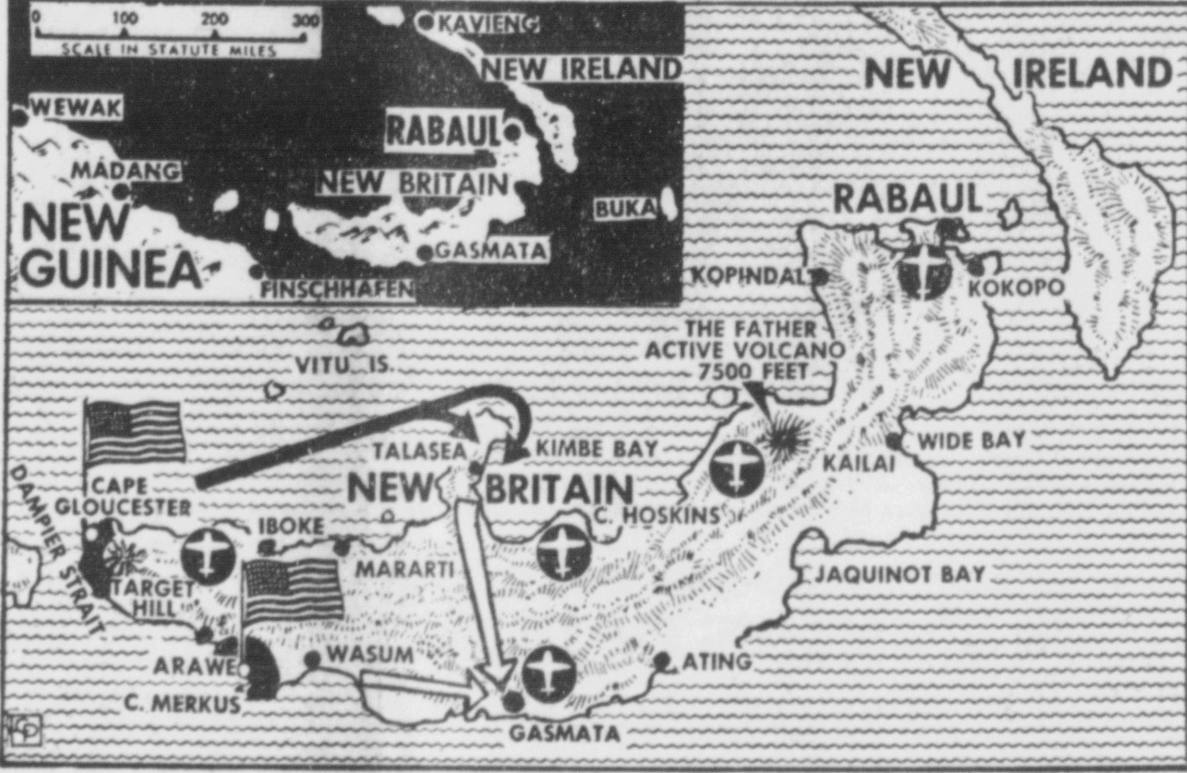

IRVIN S. COBB
DIES FOLLOWING
LONG ILLNESS

NEW YORK, March 10—Irvin S. Cobb, the sage of Paducah who rose from a 16-year-old newspaper reporter to a position of prominence as one of the nation's top humorists and writers, died today following a long illness.

Sixty-seven years of age, Cobb, four months ago, was so ill that a rumor announcing his death of pneumonia was widely circulated. With characteristic humor, however, he roused himself and sent a letter to the press denying his death.

Today, he died of complications, including dropsy. His wife was with him at his bedside.

AS MACARTHUR'S FORCES PUT SQUEEZE ON RABAU

MANEUVERING FOR A MOP-UP on New Britain and the capture of Rabaul, once mighty Jap air base on the island, U. S. forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur have made a new landing on New Britain, placing the Yanks only 160 miles southwest of Rabaul. Marines landed on Willaumez peninsula, near Talasea, 110 miles beyond Cape Gloucester. On the south coast, MacArthur forces moved eastward from Arawe airdrome to take Amgoring, a strategic point 24 miles away. (International)

WASHINGTON, March 10—Strong diplomatic belief prevailed in Washington today that the American and British governments are now bringing pressure to bear on Eire to aid the Allied cause.

The situation is viewed in official circles as delicate. However, there is reason to believe Washington and London now feel the time has come when Eire should prepare to emerge from the world conflict in a more favorable position than her past policy of strict neutrality is considered to have entitled her.

Both the American and British governments sent a formal diplomatic note to Dublin some days ago. The United States government has received an answer to its note. The answer calls for a further communication from this government.

One of the steps the United States and Great Britain would like Eire to take is to curb the (Continued on Page Three)

FREEDOM HOUSE,

BOMB OPPONENTS

NEW YORK, March 10—The group of twenty-eight clergymen and other leaders who recently protested against the "obliteration bombing" of Germany were accused today of "giving a great lift to enemy morale."

The accusation was made by the board of directors of Freedom House which includes a number of prominent churchmen.

"What greater hope could be given our enemies than to proclaim a doubt using all available means to defeat them? The freedom house statement declared.

BOSTON, March 10—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Boston was on record today as favoring no letup "in bombing, blockade or battle" so that the war may end as speedily as possible.

The prelate said this was his answer to a group of 28 prominent persons, mostly clergymen, who have deplored air attacks against German cities.

Bishop Oxnam called the Allied air offensive a "revolting necessity," but said "war is a stern, sturdy business. We are in it. To call for a lessening of applied force, either in bombing, blockade or battle, is but to prolong this awful thing."

SLAYER OF RED
KNIGHT DIES AT CANADIAN HOME

TORONTO, Ont., March 10—Capt. A. Roy Brown, 50, the Canadian ace of World War I days who became world famous by shooting down the great Baron Manfred Von Richthofen, is dead, it was disclosed today at his farm home, Nislaclan, north of Toronto.

Capt. Brown, holder of the DSO, DFC, BAR, had been ill in recent years. He won world renown in April, 1918 when he shot down the legendary Von Richthofen of Germany in an air battle. The German had 80 victories to his credit. Brown was born in Carleton Place, Ont. He leaves a widow, two daughters and a son.

MOFFETT AGAIN
BLASTS ICKES
FOR OIL DEAL

NEW YORK, March 10—Another blast was loosed today against Harold L. Ickes, war petroleum administrator by James A. Moffett, former New Deal official and a former vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Moffett last week called for the resignation or impeachment of Ickes over the proposal that the government build an oil pipeline across Arabia at a cost of from $130 million to $165 million.

"This project," Moffett said in his new criticism, "is at the expense of the United Suckers of America. It would appear that we are being drawn into a situation to help support the British sphere of influence in the Middle East where the political situation is far from easy."

"The whole project appears to be in some form or other influenced by the British. It is political. It is unwarranted. It is a waste of the American public's money."

EVEN GERMANS
ADMIT VALIANCE
OF U. S. FLIERS

MADRID, March 10—The Berlin correspondent for the newspaper "Madrid" reported today that even the residents of Berlin acknowledge the valiance of American airmen who relentlessly are pressing the offensive against the German capital.

"Berliners pay tribute to the valor shown by the United States airmen who dare to reach Berlin in a constant fight with swarms of German fighters, which give them not a moment's respite," he wrote.

Attention of the city's residents, the Berlin reporter added, is focused chiefly on "terrific air battles" waged almost daily between Nazi fighters and American raiders. The German impression was that these air attacks constituted a "display of Allied air power rather than really military actions," his dispatch added.

CHICAGO, March 10 — Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio headed today for New England to continue his campaign against what he described as one-man rule in a slashing attack on the administration.

As a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, Bricker revealed the pattern of the campaign he would wage if he should oppose President Roosevelt in the November election.

Speaking before the 50th annual banquet of the John Ericsson League of America in Chicago, the Ohio governor delivered an indictment of President Roosevelt's 11 years in the White House.

Accusing the President of encroaching on the legislative and judicial branches of government and on the rights of the 48 states in a "grasp for power" Bricker demanded that the New Deal "make way for liberty." He declared:

"The basic issue of our time is whether one man or one party shall permanently regiment 130,000,000 Americans, or whether (Continued on Page Three)

STORM SIGNALS
GO UP ON STEEL
WAR PAY FRONT

WASHINGTON, March 10 — Storm signals were hoisted on the steel wage front today even before the labor board began hearings on demands of 700 thousand steel workers for a 17-cents-an-hour pay boost.

Implementing an earlier statement by the steel industry that only congress can change the stabilization yardstick, John C. Gall, attorney for the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., recommended that the WLB dismiss the pay demands.

Despite this opposition from the steel industry, the board is expected to go ahead with the case even though it may finally rule against the unions on the grounds that it cannot change the Little Steel wage formula.

Gall declared that everyone knows and understands the WLB "has no power whatsoever" to grant a general wage increase to the steel workers and said "it is bound by law not to do so."

"The board itself has said this and the unions have publicly accepted that limitation," Gall added. A six-man WLB panel decided to postpone until next Wednesday arguments on whether it should take evidence on wage increases outside of the present stabilization policy.

Informed officials believed, however, that the full board will instruct the panel to proceed with hearings in the steel dispute which probably will determine the fate of the wage stabilization program.

Ultimatum
To Finland
ReportedQuit Russian War Or U. S.
Will Sever Relations,
Said To Be Warning

STOCKHOLM, March 10—The newspaper Social Demokraten said today that the United States has told Finland that America would sever diplomatic relations with Helsinki if the Finns did not get out of the war with Russia.

American Charge D'affaire Guillon in Helsinki, was declared to have transmitted the official U. S. message to the Finnish government.

The same newspaper's Helsinki correspondent returned to Stockholm with the report that Russo-Finnish peace negotiations have resulted in such a split in public opinion that "perhaps the government will not be able to keep the nation united."

In an uncensored report, the correspondent said that the internal political situation in Finland is "very complicated," adding that when parliament gave the government authority to continue peace negotiations with Russia, the vote was "surprisingly strong" against any peace action.

Premier Edwin J. Linkomies was said to be ill, and Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, army commander, was described by Social Demokraten's correspondent as the only man with the support of all parties who could "master the situation."

Informed sources in Stockholm declared, meanwhile, that the Finnish answer to the Russian peace offer was very brief, but accompanied by an oral declaration to Madame Alexandra Kollontay, the Soviet minister to Sweden.

The opinion in the Swedish capital is that both Moscow and Helsinki wish to keep the door open for continuing their negotiations.

It was said here that Russia's attitude, as reflected by its demands that German forces in Finland be interned and the 1940 boundary be re-established, was influenced not only by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin but by more aggressive Red military leaders as well.

$40,000 WORTH OF
TEARS SHED BY
CHICAGO JURY

CHICAGO, March 10—Thanks to a sympathetic jury which shed $40,000 worth of tears, Mrs. Grattis Smith, 27, was the recipient today of one of the largest out-of-court personal injury settlements in the memory of court attaches.

She was suing the Yellow Cab Co. for $75,000 for injuries she received in 1942 when a car driven by her husband, a concert pianist known professionally as Jerold Frederic, was struck by a Yellow Cab.

Company lawyers were putting up a stiff fight until Mrs. Smith began telling of the aftermath of the accident—a shattered vertebra which necessitated a painful operation, the loss of her teeth, internal injuries—and the lawyers noted that about half the seven women and five men on the jury were dabbing their eyes or weeping openly.

That was the handwriting on the wall. Defense attorneys hastily asked for a recess and soon afterward it was announced the $40,000 settlement had been reached.

BOY FAVORS TITLE OF "YANKEE" OVER "BARON"

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 10—The United States acquired a new citizen today in the person of a 10-year-old boy who relinquished his title as a German baron when he took the oath of citizenship before a Circuit Court Judge Ralph J. Dady.

He is Stephan George Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz, who was born in Munich and whose father, Baron Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz, is said to be now serving as an officer in the German army.

Among the witnesses for the boy was his mother, Martha, who obtained a divorce in 1941.

The German aircraft industry staggered today under a new aerial blow, the Royal Air Force having followed up yesterday's giant American onslaught against Berlin with a major night attack on an important airplane plant near Marseilles.

Huge four-motored Lancasters, in a daring assault all the way across Nazi-held France, blasted the Marignane aircraft factory near the southern French seaport. Official sources said the RAF raiders found their target clearly discernible in bright moonlight and reports indicated the bombing was both accurate and concentrated.

No British craft was missing after the more than 1,200 mile round trip, which was carried out only a few hours after hundreds of American heavy bombers rained additional death and destruction on the German capital.

The United States four-motored craft, in their quick followup to Wednesday's record fire-raid against Berlin, encountered little enemy opposition and suffered the loss of only seven of their number. One American fighter escort also failed to return from the raid on the flame-seared Nazi city.

Action In Italy
The Mediterranean Allied air force carried out fairly extensive operations in Italy, meantime, flying some 900 sorties to approximately 30 made by the German airmen in the same theater. Among targets for the United Nations fliers of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's command were the harbor at San Stefano and Montalto Di Castro, as well as other important rail and communication installations of the Nazis.

On the ground, activity was limited to patrolling and a few minor clashes. However, an official announcement revealed that the Allies have captured 15,000 prisoners since landing in Italy on September 3, 1943.

Numerous prisoners were taken by the Russians in the Ukraine, too, where the Red Army was pursuing two new offensives. Frontline dispatches estimated that "more than 1,000,000" men were engaged in combat on both the western and southern Ukraine fronts.

TIME ORDINANCE
TO BE OFFERED
HERE WEDNESDAY

Legislation intended to return Circleville to fast time for the Summer months will be introduced for council consideration Wednesday night. The ordinance will be presented as an emergency measure, the sponsors anticipating that under the rules it will be adopted at the single meeting instead of the usual regular procedure of three successive readings.

The proposed plan is to turn clocks ahead for an hour the first Sunday in April and maintain the fast time until October 1.

TWO SEVERE QUAKES

NEW YORK, March 10—Fordham university today reported that two "severe" earth tremors were recorded last night. It was estimated that the earth shocks, occurring about 12 minutes apart, originated about 7,000 miles from New York. A minor earthquake was recorded in Peru this morning, the university reported.

Homesickness Grips County's Soldiers In Far Corners of Globe

An epidemic of homesickness is sweeping the globe and in the far corners suffer hundreds of Pickaway county's young men. Letters home do not dwell on the subject, but the fact is evident.

Corporal Earl Benton McClurg, son of Mrs. Proctor McClurg, of Duval, has been in the service three years and has had no furlough in all of that time.

Recently his mother sent him some snapshots taken around the home place. Anything from home looks good to him. This is one sentence from his letter: "I sure like the looks of the sow. The boys here thought she was very nice."

And a paragraph from the same letter: "The last American camp we stayed in in India we had all American canned food. One day at dinner I sure did get homesick. They had HOT BISCUITS. I ate only three as I was ashamed to go back for any more."

And mail means something to the men in uniform. "I had a wonderful mail when we arrived here, four letters from you and 13 from others. Also five packages. I think a couple of your letters got lost somewhere, mom."

Corp. McClurg is learning something about how the other half lives. He wrote: "Stayed at two English 'rest camps' for a few days and I can't figure out how they put those places in the rest camp class. We had to sleep on the ground in both of them and the food was so bad in one that I ate in the mess hall only once in three days. I managed pretty well for myself, though."

RED CROSS CORNER

ON THE RECORD

When a square, beige envelope addressed in strange handwriting arrived by mail at the home of a woman in the Midwest, she put it in the window. She supposed it was a sign to show that she had donated to the Red Cross, for the envelope contained a disc with a huge red cross in the center. She left it there, until one day a visitor suggested it might be a record. The woman put the disc on the phonograph and heard the familiar voice of her son, who was convalescing at a Naval hospital in California.

The mother wept for joy, particularly when the voice said at the end of the record, "Oh Mom, please send me a pineapple spread down cake."

The cake was dispatched in double quick time.

Since March 1, 1943, 3,500,000 servicemen have been given personal aid by Red Cross Camp and Hospital workers.

BLOOD DONORS EXCEED QUOTA ON FIRST DAY

Pickaway county blood donors exceeded their quota of 175 pints of blood at yesterday's visit of the Franklin county Red Cross mobile unit, by 2 pints. The unit opened its two day session Thursday at the First Methodist church.

Many more persons appeared to donate than had registered their intentions and the local chairman and those in charge were hopeful that today's results would be as good.

A blood donors club, formed at the Pickaway Power plant, sent 10 men in for donations. The local plant of the Container Corporation was represented by 30 donors.

Mrs. Hays, registrar said many persons came in to donate who said they did not have telephones and could not register but had read about the need, and wished to make their donation.

Today's session opened at 10:30 o'clock and closed at 2 p. m.

SURVEY STARTS ON JOB HOLDERS WHEN JAPS HIT

Uncle Sam wishes to know what people were doing immediately prior to Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, and to the Bureau of the Census has been assigned the job of finding the answer in a sample survey of 68 selected areas throughout the United States.

Pickaway and Ross counties constitute one of these 68 areas selected for inclusion in this special study which will be made as part of the survey of the nation's labor force conducted by the Census Bureau each month.

Mrs. Helen C. Young, local supervisor, says that information on the pre-Pearl Harbor employment status of Americans was needed to determine on a national basis how many people engaged in household duties and other activities immediately before the country's entry into World War II have taken jobs since Pearl Harbor.

It was claimed that this special inquiry ties in directly with the information obtained each month from a sample of local families which is combined with similar figures from families in the 67 other areas of the country. The monthly survey provides national estimates of employment, hours of work, unused labor supply, and so forth.

Some special questions were asked last month concerning the extent to which married women with children or with husbands in the armed forces have taken jobs.

OLD CAR PLATES MUST BE TAKEN OFF OF AUTOS

Police chief, William McCrady warned automobile owners Friday to remove both old license plates and license windshield stickers from their vehicles before displaying the 1944 plate. The new plate of which only one will be used, must appear on the rear of cars. "Be sure to donate the old tags to the scrap drive," the chief said.

He warned that keeping an old tag on the front of an automobile after the new one had been put on the rear is a violation of the law and will result in arrest.

SEND COLLETT TO CHAIR, STATE URGES OF JURY

Prosecution Declares No Mercy Recommendation Is Justified

(Continued from Page One) fession could not be considered because of alleged threats used to "force Jim Collett into admitting a foul crime he did not commit. Kirk declared acquittal is the only possible verdict in the case.

At the afternoon session Prosecutor Hill and James Linton, of the defense, were to present their arguments. It was indicated that the fate of Collett would rest in the hands of the jury before nightfall.

Reopening Denied
When court convened today Attorney Linton asked that the case be reopened to admit additional evidence dealing with the location of Sabina and custody of Collett's car following his arrest. The court ruled against reopening the case, but permitted admission of statements dealing with the fact that Sabina is 11 miles from the McCoy farm and that Collett's car was in the custody of authorities here from the time of his arrest until December 23.

Collett showed definite signs of tiring today as his battle for life entered its final phase. He was haggard and slightly pale and apparently spent a restless night in the local jail.

Alibi Hard Hit
Collett's alibi defense suffered a stunning blow Thursday afternoon when Rollo S. Kirk, of Wilmington, who has known Collett for 45 years testified that he saw the defendant in Sabina about 8 o'clock the night of the McCoy family slaying. Sabina is about 20 miles closer to the murder scene than the point at which Collett had testified he was at the time, in a stalled automobile a few miles from his own home.

Kirk told the jury: "I was at the intersection waiting on the light to turn to go toward Wilmington and a car came up at a pretty good rate of speed and the light changed and stopped the car coming east on the highway, giving me the light and I turned to the right toward Wilmington and it was Mr. Collett."

The defense had introduced evidence on speedometer readings on Collett's car in an attempt to prove that the car could not have been driven to Washington C. H. and back on the night of the killings. The reading was too low to have permitted the trip. In rebuttal the state called Edward H. Ellis, employee of a Wilmington auto sales company, who testified that he had examined the car and believed that the speedometer had been tampered with as "the cable was down." The examination was made after the arrest of Collett, a point which was stressed by the defense in cross examination.

Collett broke down for the first time during the trial and cried during examination by James Linton, his attorney. He was telling of a visit to his home with authorities in search of the revolver used in the murders. As he left the car his dog ran up and greeted him. "I petted him," sobbed Collett. A few minutes later Collett sobbed as he told the jury: "I said I killed Elmer but not the women. Thomas said, I don't believe it. I felt like saying I don't either, but I knew I did not dare to." Collett contends that Toledo detectives coached him in what to say to relatives who questioned him about the murders.

Detective Eckerman, of Toledo, was recalled to the stand by the state and denied any coaching of Collett in what to say to anyone.

fighting the war as well as in the interest of future generations."

The administration program calls for a one-year simple extension of the law. House anti-subsidy members already have disclosed they will renew their fight, while other demands for curbs on the power of OPA were made.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., proposed to limit OPA's power to "necessary" price control on basic products, while Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., said a court review of OPA orders and decisions is necessary. Both Democratic Senate Leader Barkley and Speaker Rayburn of the house were revealed to be urging banking committees to report out a bill so that it can be passed before pressure is caused by the expiration deadline of June 30.

"Chances look pretty good for legislation," said Barkley. Sen. Wagner (D) N. Y., chairman of the senate banking committee, arranged for the conference with Bowles. He said he was anxious to get both Democrats and Republicans in agreement on issues, if possible, before the bill is taken up for debate.

Wagner introduced the one-year extension bill in the senate while Rep. Spence (D) Ky., chairman of the house banking committee, submitted a similar measure to the lower branch.

He also denied the use of force or threats in questioning Collett before, during, or after the confession.

Collett under cross examination declared that he was not in Sabina the evening of the murders as testified by Kirk. He was angry when he made the denial and again displayed temper in refusing a state charge that he had tampered with the speedometer of his automobile.

SOYBEAN MEAL CONSIGNED TO COUNTY DEALERS

Three cars of Soybean Meal were consigned to Pickaway county for the month of February. The first car containing 35 tons was consigned to the Ashville Grain Company, Ashville Grain Company and Scioto Grain & Supply Co., each received 10 tons, Teegardin Grain Company and Orient Grain Company each received 6 tons, and the Alva Hill Grain Company received three tons from this car.

The second car was consigned to Heffner Grain Company. This car also contained 35 tons. Ten tons went to Heffner Grain Company, Clark Hunsicker received 6 tons, Jones Mills, 6 tons, and Alva Hill Grain Company, 7 tons. The remaining 6 tons from this car went to Elmwood Elevator. Car No. 3, consisting of 30 tons, was consigned to Atlanta Grain Company. Ten tons each went to Atlanta Grain Company, New Holland Grain Company and Pickaway Grain Company.

The cost of this meal to the farmer is $58.53 unless the car comes through a broker, in which case a brokerage charge is made and the farmer must then pay $59.03 a ton.

Under Food Production Order No. 9, Revision 3, covering limitations on sale, shipment, and inventories of protein meal and on use of soybean products, no farmer may purchase more than one ton and can have no more than a month's supply on hand including his purchase.

Another allotment of meal consisting of some linseed meal and the remaining soybean meal will be received in about two weeks for the month of March.

JUDGMENT RELEASED

A release of judgment for $3,000 against Earl S. Duvall was recorded in Common Pleas court Friday in the divorce case of Earl S. Duvall vs. Grace Duvall.

EIRE PRESSED TO AID ALLIES

activities of Axis diplomatic and other agents in Ireland.

Eire maintains diplomatic relations with both Germany and Japan, and the diplomatic and consular representatives of those two powers are still stationed in Southern Ireland. The view has prevailed in official American and British quarters for sometime that those Axis representatives have been in a position to observe and report on Allied military preparations and activities, especially the arrival of American troop convoys in northern Ireland.

The Axis diplomatic representatives are suspected of sending agents to Northern Ireland to report on troop arrivals and movements. As far back as September, 1942, reports from Northern Ireland referred to Nazi agents spying on American troop movements. These reports from American sources claimed the Germans at that time were aware of the exact dispositions of United States forces in Northern Ireland.

Even the presence of American troops in Northern Ireland has been resented in Eire. President Eamon Le Valera protested against the stationing of American troops in the six northern counties as long ago as January, 1942, on the grounds that their presence tended to perpetuate the partition of Ireland.

When the United States and Great Britain were urging Eire back in 1941 and early 1942 to grant the Allies the use of air and naval bases in Southern Ireland, Dublin took the position that it could not do so because of the danger of German aerial bombing and invasion.

President De Valera feared Dublin could be wiped out by German bombers within a few hours. He also felt that Eire would be unable to repulse a German invasion.

Washington and London are now understood to be of the opinion that the danger from either of these two possibilities has been greatly reduced. Therefore, it is felt Eire could meet the current wishes of the American and British governments with much less risk.

FIVE MEN LEAVE CITY FOR SERVICE IN NAVY

A contingent of five young men went to Columbus Friday for induction into the navy. These men have all passed their physical examinations and expect to be sent to Great Lakes Naval training center. The new sailors are Rufus Newman, Kirkersville; Richard E. Raub and Ralph Willis Ankrom, Circleville; Stanley Canter, Lockbourne; and Robert E. Warren, Ashville. Warren was transferred to the local board from Springfield.

drive southwest of Krivoi Rog overran more than 200 towns and villages, annihilated more than 8,000 enemy troops and advanced to within 35 miles of Nikolayev. This, the site of a key Nazi naval base, and Kherson—another Black sea port—were threatened by the Red Army surge.

Far to the northwest, another newly-initiated offensive by the left flank of the victorious First Ukrainian Army drove to within 40 miles of the vital junction of Zmerinka, on the Odessa-Lwow railroad. The right wing of this force, having captured the enemy stronghold of Starokonstantinov, overran more than 60 miles of the double-tracked line to drive into the outskirts of Tarnopol. Fierce fighting was in progress deep in the city's defenses.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces in the Southwest Pacific increased the threats to the neutralized enemy base of Rabaul, in New Britain. From their beachhead on Willaumez peninsula, on the island's north coast, battle-tested U. S. Marines advanced three miles across the land-split to within two miles of the district capital of Talasea.

On Los Negros island, where American dismounted cavalrymen captured Momote airfield and then cleared the Japs from the rest of the island, the Yanks tightened their grip by destroying Jap batteries overlooking Sea Eagle harbor. The anchorage already is in use by American warships and supply vessels.

Once again, Rabaul was subjected to a strong air raid by American airmen who again failed to encounter enemy fighter opposition. Testifying to seriousness of the Jap garrison's plight was a Tokyo broadcast which quoted a Rabaul correspondent as saying the defending troops "no longer care what happens."

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., March 10—The rescue of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt, and an American general from a "lost" United States Flying Fortress was revealed today in two letters from a Canadian flier with the RAF.

The letters, received by the Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Kennedy from their son, Flying Officer John B. Kennedy, told how the RA Ensignator was assigned to find the lost plane near southern England.

McCANN SPEAKS AT MEETING OF ANGUS BREEDERS

L. P. McCann, extension specialist of Ohio State university was the speaker when the Pickaway county Aberdeen Angus Breeders Association held their meeting in Betz restaurant.

The meeting was devoted to the discussion and promotion of breeding of Aberdeen Angus cattle in Pickaway county. Following his talk Mr. McCann discussed with the members some of the present day beef breeding problems and beef herd management.

The association planned to hold a cattle tour April 14 when it will visit about 10 or 12 Angus herds in the county. The annual cattle breeders picnic will be held in August. The next regular meeting of the association will be June 9 and the sale of purebred animals will be held in November.

Marvin Hinton who attended the National Angus Breeders Livestock Sale in Chicago recently, gave a report of the sale. Five junior members were guests of the association.

BRICKER FLAYS ONE MAN RULE

they shall continue to govern themselves through time-tested institutions of self-government.

"Our American system was intended to be a government of and by laws. Under the New Deal it has become a government of and by men."

"During the last 11 years, those in power in Washington have permitted this nation to be blown off its course by the winds of absolutism, emanating from Europe. They lost faith in the capacity of the people to govern themselves."

To end the present so-called "one-man rule" in the nation, Bricker laid down the following four-point program for Republicans:

1. Get rid of needless bureaucracy, which the New Deal "can't" and a new administration "can" do.
2. Restore the balance between executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, with policy-making left to congress.
3. End the centralization of power in Washington and restore states to their rightful role.
4. Give the people the facts on every issue so their will can be fully expressed. Government must trust the judgement of the people.

Gov. Bricker cited what he termed President Roosevelt's supreme court "packing" attempt as an example of the "grasp for power" and his stand on soldier vote legislation as his unwillingness to heed the will of congress.

He charged that the President has said, in effect, that "if he cannot have his kind of a law there will be no law."

Pointing to the rift between the President and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, senate majority leader, over the recent veto of the tax bill, he warned:

"The only thing that can prevent us from victory in the Fall is a division in the Republican leadership itself." He added:

"I am personally more interested in the New Deal philosophy of government than I am in ever being president of the United States."

FIRE AND BOMBS RAVISH PROUD REICH CAPITAL

supplies to Nazi armies on the embattled Russian front have been badly hampered.

Morale was described as low, and the Daily Mail said that thousands of factory workers failed to arrive for their jobs. Police patrols were sighted on all of the wrecked, bomb-pocked streets of the city to preserve order.

Lack Of Opposition

Significant was the lack of any real fighter opposition when the big Fortresses and Liberators, and their escorts, blasted Berlin through 20,000 foot clouds in yesterday's daylight smash.

Though the flak was terrific,

German fighters were scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, as reflected by the U. S. communiques in which there were no new claims of destruction of Nazi aircraft.

In Monday's raid, 176 German fighters were shot down, while on Wednesday another 125 were blasted out of the sky, for a two-day total of 301, a major chunk out of the Luftwaffe's strength. The result was that in yesterday's raid, only a handful of the enemy's fighters took to the skies.

American losses in the three raids of this week—Monday, Wednesday and yesterday—were 113 bombers and 28 fighters, a total of 141 lost, less than half the enemy's fighter losses.

During February, U. S. headquarters revealed, 24,000 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy's fighter-plane industry and other targets, crippling blows heavily curtailing manufacture of aircraft for the Hitlerites. During that same period, 905 German planes were shot down in combat, which was officially said to be "considerably more" than the enemy's fighter production capacity at the end of the month.

OPEN LETTERS

TO EVERYONE

FRIENDS: Ever since shortly after Pearl Harbor you have been reading about blood plasma and the fact that every day it saves the lives of young men fighting so that you may remain at home in safety and comparative luxury. You know its value, realize that without it thousands of wounded boys would die every week. Yet each time that the Red Cross Blood Bank visits the city the Red Cross has to plead with you to donate blood. The vast majority of you turn a deaf ear to the pleas. Maybe you think it enough of a sacrifice that you can not obtain all the gas and rubber you desire for your auto, that you buy war bonds, that you forego some meat and sugar. All you are doing is putting the tools of war into the hands of our young men. If you think your responsibility ends there then your thinking apparatus is out of kilter. Probably the big reason is that the war is so far away. Casualty lists, however, are bringing it closer and closer every day. One day it might strike right in your own home. Blood plasma saves the lives of men who would die without it. Think that over before the next visit of the Blood Bank.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SCHOOL PUPILS

DEAR KIDS: If the adults of Pickaway county were as sincere as you in their desire to aid the war effort Pickaway county would soar over the top in all undertakings aimed at defeat of the Axis. I am mighty proud of the way you are buying war stamps and bonds, of your activities in the salvage effort and the part you play in all war campaigns. You seem to have real appreciation of the fact that this war is being fought on the home front as well as overseas, and that the responsibility does not rest solely with the young men we have sent out to protect us with their lives. I suppose you are wondering why the Red Cross has such a difficult time in obtaining enough volunteers to meet the county's blood donation quota? So am I. If they would accept the blood of boys and girls there would be no trouble in getting enough volunteers.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MAYOR GORDON

DEAR BEN: I like that idea of yours to ask cooperation of the kids themselves in solving the juvenile delinquency problem. Ever since there has been such a problem the adults, believing themselves to have a corner on all thinking ability, have been fighting it and getting nowhere fast. The thought strikes me that it is long past the time when we should call on the youngsters for advice. These kids of ours know what it is all about and have some really sound and surprising ideas on handling the situation that baffles us. We also are likely to hear that kids as a whole believe themselves no worse than us as a whole when we were kids. And they are probably right. Anyway, give them a hand in solving their own problems. We have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

FRIENDS: Permit me to pass on a little advice from police car, fire apparatus and ambulance drivers. They declare that you unconsciously are establishing a serious street and highway menace. The average motorist when he hears a siren is inclined to slow down immediately or to stop. If the emergency car is immediately behind, the driver also has to slow down and sometimes is delayed because he is so close he can not pull out to pass. The advice is to maintain speed when the emergency car is close behind, pulling gradually to the right.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COUNTY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Congratulations on your action in helping provide a stockpile of work against the post-war period when our county will be flooded with jobless soldiers and present-day war plant employees. Your highway improvement program is the result of constructive thinking and a far cry from the leaf raking programs of the bad years of the depression period. All others should follow your fine example in looking forward.

CIRCUITEER.

TO INCOME TAX PAYERS

PRACTICALLY EVERYONE: Maybe we eat after March 15, maybe not. War and experimentation are costly, aren't they? My "ouch" is at least as loud as yours.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RED CROSS CAMPAIGN CHIEFS

DEAR HARL AND BART: Yours is a big job, that of raising $24,300 right after the big bond drive and in the month of income tax payments, but I am confident you will succeed if intelligent effort means anything. We all know the Red Cross, the need of it and the esteem in which it is held by the men over there. What some of us might forget is that the quota is about twice as much as last year and that our checks should be twice as large. The goal is high, but the good people of the county will see that it is reached.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MARY VIRGINIA CRITES

DEAR MARY: Congratulations on your appointment as head of the Red Cross War Fund drive in the city schools. You have a big job ahead of you, but one I know you will accomplish. Here is a chance for the young folk to show the oldsters that they have been overlooked too long in serious local undertakings. Good luck to you.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER NINETEEN

As the little circle of light played on the various objects in Syria Verne's living room, Argus whistled. "Some spot," he murmured admiringly. "Look at that painting over there." He concentrated his flash on a huge canvas in a heavy gilt frame. It was a Van Gogh. The rug beneath their feet felt thick and soft. Built-in bookcases lined one end of the room, reaching from the ceiling down to about four feet from the floor. There were bookcases also on either side of the French windows.

In one corner, its back and one side surrounded with books was a satiny, square mahogany table. On it was a telephone. To the left was a lamp. In the space directly over the smooth surface and set in the bookcase was a machine that looked like a radio except that it had no dial.

"According to the diagram in the paper," said Argus, "Syria was found lying face down at the base of that table, with the telephone in her right hand."

"It gives me the creeps!" whispered Ellen, her teeth chattering.

Argus crossed the room and turned on the lamp. Soft light filled the room. Ellen looked around.

"That better?" Argus asked.

"Yes," Ellen agreed. "What a lovely apartment! I'd imagined Syria as living in a modern sort of place with white rugs and lots of mirrors. But this room is so comfortable, so well done. The pieces in here are the sort of person of excellent taste would spend years in collecting."

"It is out of character at that. I'll lay you a bet that Syria didn't furnish the place herself. If she had there'd be more chaise longue!"

"Look at these porcelains on the mantelpiece," Ellen picked up two figurines, a shepherd and his shepherdess. She turned one of them over. Stamped on the bottom was the word "Limoges."

Then the detective directed Ellen to "start over there by the entrance to this room and pretend you've just come home. You hear the phone ringing. You come over and answer it. Just as you get the receiver to your ear there's a shot. You fall down at the base of this table. Got it?"

"Yes, but I don't like it very much."

Ellen followed instructions. Argus watched her carefully. She stepped off the distance from the door to the telephone and picked up the receiver.

"Bang!" exclaimed Argus. Ellen fell to the floor.

"Stay where you are a minute, will you, darling? Anything strike you as strange about that shot?"

"It was an exceptionally peaceful bang."

"No, seriously. I'll show you what I mean. This table is in a corner, flush against the wall and the bookcases, which surround two sides. To the left is the lamp. Now, the only way to answer that phone was the way you did—walk directly up to it and pick it up."

"Yes, but—"

"Stand in front of this table again and hold that receiver in your hand for a second," Ellen did so. "Remember that Syria was shot through the chest as she stood there. Look around you. Where could the murderer have stood in order to have shot her through the chest? You're facing the bookcase and this built-in machine that looks like a radio but which is an air-conditioner. To your right are more bookcases. To your left is a lamp and a chair. From the position the body was in when she was found, we know that some one must've been standing directly in front of her. But where?"

"That's right. Unless the murderer was standing on the table. There's no room any place else."

"Exactly. And the murderer wasn't standing on the table because the angle at which the bullet entered the body shows that. So that leaves two other possibilities. Either there must be a hidden panel behind the bookcase through which the murderer fired, or some sort of mechanical gadget must've been hidden behind the books or—wait a minute."

"But how—if it was some mechanical device, how would the murderer know that the bullet would hit Syria?" Ellen asked.

"I've got it! Yep! That must be it!"

"What must be it?"

"This air-conditioning machine. Look at these little holes in the grill. The holes were about half an inch in diameter and formed a circular pattern on the face of the machine. They serve as ventilators and they're just about the right size for a bullet to pass through."

"You mean—"

"I mean that I'll find a gun inside this machine. It's in the proper position, just over the table, so that any one picking up the phone would come in direct range of a shot."

"But even if that were true, I still don't see how the murderer could be sure any one would be around when it went off," Ellen declared.

Argus didn't reply. He was dusting some powder over the top of the air-conditioner. He waited a second and then blew off the excess.

"Is that how you find fingerprints?" Ellen asked, following the operation with rapt attention.

"If there are any. I brought it along just in case."

"Are there?" Argus inspected the surface carefully through a pocket magnifying glass.

"No. I hardly expected to find any. I wonder if there's a screwdriver in the joint. Take a look in the kitchen, will you, darling?"

Ellen returned a few minutes later with a small screwdriver and a pair of pliers. Argus was squinting into the ventilating holes, one after another.

"Now I'll take the top off this machine and we'll see what we shall see," Argus suited the action to his words. It took the detective only a couple of minutes to complete the job. He took his flashlight from his pocket and explored the contrivance.

"Yip-pee . . . Here's the gun! Come and look, Ellen."

"Golly!" she exclaimed, leaning over his shoulder. "Then the murderer didn't have to be in the apartment at all when she was shot. But how did it work? Was it like a time bomb?"

Argus took down several books carefully and examined each one as he did so. Then he set them on a nearby chair. "There's a wire back here. Let's see where it leads to." Without touching it he followed its course back of some more books. He removed these likewise. "Look!" he said excitedly. "This wire leads into the telephone box where the bell is and it's all hidden from sight behind those books."

"What do you make of that, Argus?"

"Unless my guess is wrong, darling, it means just one thing! Syria Verne was murdered by telephone!"

"Telephone!"

"Yep. I don't know quite how it worked yet, but I will." He played his light along the bookshelf and the wire leading to the bell box. Then he returned to the machine itself. The gun inside was mounted so that the end of the barrel was only a fraction of an inch away from the ventilator hole in the center of the left pattern; one end of a piece of twine was fastened to the trigger and the other was fastened to the revolving axis of the blower that cooled the air. The wire from the phone box led to the switch that started the motor of the air-conditioning machine.

"Very ingenious!" observed Argus. "Our murderer seems to be something of an electrical expert. Apparently he also had a knowledge of this apartment and its layout, and knew when Syria would be out, so he'd have time to install it."

Something caught his eye and he picked it up. It was a short, bristly red hair, barely noticeable, inside the machine at the base of the gun mount.

"Find something?" Ellen asked.

"A reddish hair. See if you can find an envelope to put it in."

Ellen found one in a Queen Anne desk on the other side of the room and handed it to him. Argus dropped the hair into it and placed the envelope in his pocket. Taking another piece of paper and a pencil he jotted down the serial number of the air-conditioning machine and the make. Then, adjusting his camera, he took a flashlight photo of the interior of the unit. He put in a new plate and replaced the expended bulb.

"Shhhh!" warned Ellen. "What's that?"

Uses of Penicillin And Sulfa Drugs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I AM grateful that I have lived long enough to see a dream of my youth become a reality. When I was a medical student and young hospital interne we—my colleagues and I—used to speculate on some chemical which would enter the blood and kill off germs without injuring the body cells. Salvarsan, which came in my time, did the trick for syphilis, but the nearest we came to anything for ordinary germs was mercuriochrome, which we used to give for blood poisoning. It ended the lives of only about twice as many blood poison victims as would have gone ordinarily, and the experience made us suspicious.

Kinds of Infection

I know little about penicillin, even how to pronounce it, because it is not yet generally available for civilian practice, but many hospital centers of investigation have shown in what kinds of infections it is valuable.

First come the pus infections with staphylococci. The sulfa drugs are effective against pneumonia germs (pneumococci) and streptococci, which cause certain kinds of blood poisoning, but not very effective against staphylococci. Now for staphylococci, carbuncles, infected bone (osteomyelitis), middle ear disease and several other forms of staphylococcal infection, penicillin is an effective killer. For these it has been called bacterial dynamite.

Against pneumonia and meningitis and gonococcal infection it is also very effective.

Also against a number of rare infections of only occasional interest to the layman—the gas-forming germ, bacillus Welchii, anthrax, lock jaw, bacillus subtilis, etc. It has been favorably reported in the treatment of a few cases of syphilis.

It has the great advantage over the sulfa drugs that it is less toxic even when given in doses far above what is necessary for therapeutic results.

Inside WASHINGTON

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

● WASHINGTON—The things you hear in Washington! For example—

That little, growing "buzz-buzz" about China—

What has happened to China? Is she still in the war? Have the United Nations or—to be exact—the Big Three thereof, forgotten about their Far-Eastern Ally?

Are the Big Three playing China's game? Is China playing only her own game? Or is China getting lost in the shuffle of boundary lines?

Have Allies

Has Britain forgotten everything in the Far East except Singapore, which she is determined to get back? And has the United States forgotten everything in the Far East—her Allies' plans, etc.—except Tokyo? Are we, the United States, helping China as we should? And if not, why?

Wasn't the purpose of Madame Chiang Kai-shek's visit to beguile more help for her country out of the United States? Did she accomplish the purpose of that dramatic tour?

Could it be possible that Madame Chiang's dramatic tour was a practical mistake? Why?

The answer to the last question is this: If Madame Chiang did fail after a fashion, it was because in her own personality she did not represent a hungry, needy China. Nor an anxious, impoverished China. She represented an exciting, conquering, glamorous China.

In her glorious brocades and jewels, her minis and chinchillas, her entourage of retainers Mrs. Chiang did not spell the poor of China. She herself was wealth and brightness. She was the brains and sovereignty of the Orient. The Queen of Sheba, really. Coming to call on Solomon. Or maybe she was a Portia out of Shakespeare.

But did she help China's cause? The friends of China—opponents "friend" with a little letter "f" this time—are beginning to believe that she did not. She was spectacular and clever and beautiful and intellectual. But did she make you or anybody else feel truly sorry for China? She did not. She made you think of China as vivid, thrilling. Not as struggling, maybe dying?

Perhaps this radiant wife of the Chinese generalissimo came playing the role best suited for conferences with some of the great American leaders. But, to my friends who know China as well as that vast country can be known by anybody, she did not help China—for long.

● OTHER THINGS YOU HEAR spoken in Washington—

Was that phrase of the president's veto message about taxing the "needy for the greedy" wise? The phrase has a snappy sound. Yes, but almost too snappy. Too pat.

Was it the president's own phrase? It likely was. But give the words about three months to soak into the national mind and conversation. Then you can tell if they were smart.

More talk—President Roosevelt with Rooseveltian adroitness will turn the Barkley resignation into an asset for himself. The president is at his best when things seem at their worst—for him. When the engines are roaring and you'd think he'd be mowed down forever in one more second, his wits spring into gear, his own mind takes charge of the slower minds in the neighborhood and before you can say "Grover Cleveland"—(who was that fellow anyhow?) he has command of the biggest engine and off he drives with his cigaret holder socked higher than ever.

● THIS TOWN IS FULL OF EXPERTS who have just come back from South America, the South Pacific, Italy, China and possibly from a voyage to the moon for all we know. Most of these gentlemen—ladies are not being sent traveling far nowadays—bring discouraging reports about the lack of lasting United States influence anywhere.

The United States has an influence of sorts in foreign countries, a dollar and munitions influence. Only as long as the dollars and the munitions keep coming and the Americans keep staying. So the experts report.

But Americans don't enjoy living away from America. Not the Americans who matter. They want to get back to good plumbing. They say they have to go home to Washington to report. But what they really want is a good bath. They are still tourists and they still haven't much influence on the thinking of other nations. The reason for this is that most Americans get bored with long, slow jobs. We're really a theatrical people. Hollywoodians, at least.

With a quick perception and a keen understanding of human nature, you are led by suggestion rather than by force. The love and friendships you inspire are true and lasting, and you have no real enemies. You are observing, like to travel and will do so extensively. Varied influences operate in the next year. You should safeguard your health and that of the women of your family. Beware of accidents and deal cautiously with authority. Strangers will befriend you. Born on this date a child will experience many ups and downs in health and business. Many obstacles, however, will be overcome.

For Friday, March 10

MANY DIFFICULTIES, delays and tenacious obstacles may be the means of impeding and postponing desired objectives, unless a most decisive, strenuous and aggressive mode of procedure be brought to bear upon depressing and frustrating circumstances. However, unreasonable force or over-zealous tactics are not likely to gain objectives, and there is little encouragement to be expected from employers, superiors, elders or others, who may insist on progressive and constructive policies before rendering assistance. Safeguard the health and personal safety, of self and family.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of delays, impediments and obstacles, difficult to overcome, especially there is meagre hope of assistance from elders, employers or superiors. Strangers may lend a more friendly ear. But persistent effort, patience, restraints but decisive and practical efforts to marshal constructive skills and talents may create a sound base for future success. Meantime shun accident, reckless acts and take care of the personal safety and that of the family. Possibly such impediments may vanish.

Ashville Garden Club Donates To War Fund

Mrs. A. W. Graham
Hostess For
Fine Meet

Ashville Garden club voted $10 to the Red Cross War Fund Drive at its meeting Thursday in the Ashville community hall. Mrs. A. W. Graham served as hostess for the evening and the splendid program was arranged by Miss Nellie Osterle. Mrs. George D. McDowell, president, conducted the business hour.

After group singing of Irish melodies in keeping with the St. Patrick's Day season, Miss Osterle presented Mrs. F. S. Hinkle in an informative talk on "Evergreens." Mrs. Rennie Sowers in a very practical talk, discussed, "Lettuce, and Head Lettuce." Mrs. Wright Noecker told of "The Growing of Annuals" and Mrs. E. E. Borror's subject was "The Treating of Seeds for Germination." Mrs. Isaac Millar was in charge of the Garden Calendar for March. Round table discussion closed the interesting and profitable evening's study.

Pickaway Banquet

Members of the basketball team of Pickaway township school, cheer leaders and coaches were honored at the annual banquet sponsored Wednesday by the Parent-Teacher association of the school, about 200 guests attending the affair. Seated with the 15 boys of the teams of the school were five cheer leaders and eight guests.

The banquet was served in the school gymnasium which was gayly decorated in black and gold. Streamers from the ceiling led to the ends of the hall, one space being centered with a large gold star bearing names of the boys of the team, cheer leaders and coaches.

Renick Dunlap and Private Carl S. Burger were honored guests and speakers. John Hardin, superintendent of the school and coach, presented letters and awards.

A basketball picture and a football picture were presented later in the evening in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Harry Wright is president of the P.T.A. and was assisted by members of the group in arranging the dinner. Pickaway school Girl Reserves, assisted by Miss Ellen Bower, their advisor, served the excellent repast.

Business Women's Club
Business and Professional Women's club enjoyed a delightful guest night meeting Thursday in the club room, Masonic temple. An excellent musical program, arranged by Mrs. J. C. Rader, was presented at the close of a brief business session led by Miss Rose Good.

For the first number of the program, Miss Marvonne Henness sang "A Little Bit of Heaven" with her mother, Mrs. Harriet Henness, as piano accompanist. Mrs. G. A. Snider gave a brief talk on the life of Carrie Jacob Bond who wrote the club song, "The Golden Key." Miss Henness then presented the song, and also, "Perfect Day," another Bond composition. Group singing of "My Wild Irish Rose" concluded the music of the session.

Mrs. Henness and Miss Good received prizes as the best spellers in the spelling bee in which members and guests participated.

Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table with a center arrangement of colorful flowers, flanked with yellow tapers. Mrs. Rader poured. Miss Minnie Palm and Mrs. George Barnes were hostesses for the lovely party.

Miss Brown Entertains
Miss Ellen Brown entertained members of the traffic department of the Citizens' Telephone company at a delightful bridge party Thursday at her home, 119 West Ohio street. After several rounds of contract bridge, prizes were awarded Miss Lorraine Noel and Miss Dorothy Smyth for scores in the games.

Miss Brown concluded the party with a buffet lunch. Guests included Miss Noel, Miss Smyth, the Misses Margaret Mavis, Lillian Wagner, Margaret Adkins, Mary A. Howard, Kathryn Lockard, Mrs. Edna Moon, Mrs. Bess Simson, Mrs. John Neff, Mrs. Irene Jenkins, Mrs. Margaret Shadley and Mrs. Bernadine Turner.

Jesus Betrayed, Denied, Condemned

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson for March 12 is Mark 14:10-15:20, the Golden Text being Isaiah 53:3, "He was despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.")

THE TRAGIC story of Jesus' last days on earth is the subject of our lesson today.

Two days before the Passover was to be celebrated, His enemies were planning how to get Jesus into custody. They said, however, "Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar of the people."

At this time Jesus was in Bethany, at the house of Simon the leper. As he sat at supper with His companions, a woman came in holding an alabaster box of precious ointment. She broke the box and poured the ointment over Jesus' head. Some of the company were indignant, saying the ointment could have been sold and the money given to the poor.

Jesus said, "Let her alone; why trouble her? She hath wrought a good work on me. For ye have the poor with you always, and whenever ye will ye may do them good; but Me ye have not always."

Judas Goes to Chief Priests

Judas Iscariot went from this gathering to the chief priests, to arrange with them how he would betray his Master.

On the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, the disciples asked Jesus where they would eat the feast. Jesus told two to go into the city and there they would see a man carrying a pitcher of water on his head. They were to follow him and where he went they were to say to the owner of the house, "The Master saith, Where is the guestchamber where I shall eat the passover with My disciples?"

The man would show them an upper room which had been prepared for them. The disciples did as He said and presently they were eating the Passover in this room. Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me."

Jesus took bread and blessed it and gave it to His companions, saying, "Take, eat: this is My body." He also took the cup, gave thanks, blest it, and they all drank.

"This is My blood of the new testament, which is shed for many."

After they had sung a hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives and to Gethsemane, and Jesus took Peter, James and John with Him and asked them to watch awhile while He went aside to pray. He fell on the ground, asking that God would take the bitter cup from His lips, "nevertheless, not what I will, but what Thou wilt."

Finds Friends Sleeping

Returning to His three friends whom He had asked to watch with Him, He found them sleeping. Sorrowfully He asked, "Couldst not thou watch one hour?"

He told them to watch and pray, "lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit is truly ready, but the flesh is weak." Again He went away to pray, and again coming found them asleep. A third time He prayed, and became reconciled, and on rejoining the disciples, said to them, "Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough. The hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners."

Almost immediately the garden was filled with men armed with swords and staves, led by Judas who had said they were to take the man he should kiss. He went straight to Jesus, saying, "Master, Master," and kissed Him, and the rest took Him into custody.

The Chief Priests were determined to destroy Him, so they hired false witnesses, who told how they had heard Him blaspheme, but they could not agree among themselves.

During the trial Peter followed Jesus and was in the same building, warming himself at the fire. A servant recognized him and said, "And thou wast also with Jesus of Nazareth." Peter denied it, and then he heard the cock crow. Three times he denied he knew Jesus, the last time with cursings and swearings. A second time he heard the cock crow and remembered that Jesus had said, "Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice."

After the trial before the chief priests, Jesus was taken and delivered to Pilate, the Roman governor. Pilate asked Him, "Art Thou the King of the Jews?" Jesus answered, "Thou sayest it," and would answer nothing more. Pilate could find no fault with Him and suggested that he release Jesus. At the feast of the passover it was customary for a prisoner to be released. The people, moved by the chief priests, said no, they would take instead Barabbas, a murderer.

"What shall I do unto Him whom ye call King of the Jews?" asked Pilate, and the shout went forth, "Crucify Him, crucify Him!" So Pilate, not being a strong man, let them take the Lord and lead Him away to abuse and death.

Broncos Stride Ahead Over Fallen Marysville

Ashville Quint Goes Into District Finals By Virtue of 55-38 Win

Completely outclassing their opponents and playing like champions Ashville's Broncos last night at Westerville downed Marysville by a score of 55 to 38 and moved a step nearer the district championship.

From the time of the opening whistle until the closing gun Ashville's class was a standout and the ultimate result was never doubtful. Ashville fans on the sidelines cheered themselves hoarse as their favorites set a pace that would not be denied.

Gregg, the Bronco center, counted 18 points for the night, but Marysville's super forward, Scheiderer topped him by one point. While Scheiderer hit the bucket from all angles his teammates were not so good and their next highest scorer was Finch with 11 points. Geer was third with five, Piller and Snider scored one each on fouls and that was the scoring tale for Marysville.

Ashville was not limited by the ability of one man. Five fine athletes were in their pitching and connecting. While Gregg was scoring his 18 points Messick was tallying 15. Hudson counted 12, Eckard 4 and Hudson and Hennis 3 each.

In the other class B games Grove City downed Utica, 62 to 45. Pleasant township won from Claridon, 34 to 32. Worthington trounced Newark St. Francis 40 to 16.

Ashville's next tourney appearance is slated for Saturday night with Grove City as the opponent. Pleasant township and Worthington will meet in the other final. Winners of both games going into the Regionals.

Because of Ashville's unbeaten season record and the great brand of ball displayed in the tourney so far the Broncos are favorites over Grove City, but that the Saturday night tilt will be one of the toughest of the year is expected by everyone.

COACHES FAVOR UNDER BASE FOR GRIDIRON SPORT

CHICAGO, March 10—Western Conference football coaches agreed unanimously today that there should be a wider base for competition in the gridiron sport after the end of the war.

They recommended to the athletic directors of the conference, meeting with them in Chicago, that in addition to drafting schedules for the varsity teams, regular schedules also should be arranged for B teams and 150-pound teams, along with limited schedules for freshman teams.

The directors today were expected to select a site for the Big Ten outdoor track meet. Plans for baseball, tennis and golf also were before the meeting.

Representatives from Notre Dame, Michigan State, Iowa Pre-flight and Great Lakes also attended the sessions because these schools often engage in football and other athletic competition with Big Ten universities.

26 ATHLETICS SIGN ON DOTTED LINE FOR MACK

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 — Connie Mack appeared satisfied today with signed contracts from 26 Philadelphia Athletics who are ready to report for their first workout at Frederick, Mo., Monday.

The holdouts remained on the roster, while Buck (Bobo) Newsum just hasn't decided yet whether he will pitch for the A's this year although he is satisfied with the terms Mack offered. Pitcher Luke Hamlin spurned a $4,500 offer, and Outfielder Bill Burgo thought $3,000 insufficient.

Connie didn't seem perturbed about the holdouts, however, asserting "I don't much care."

COULDN'T REMEMBER VANCOUVER, B. C.—Confirming the legend of the absent-minded professor, Dr. A. F. B. SERVICEMEN TO DOMINATE MAT TILT IN EAST

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 10 — Servicemen will dominate the 40th annual championship matches of the Eastern Intercollegiate wrestling tournament which opens tonight with preliminary bouts at Lehigh university.

Wrestlers from nine different teams will weigh in this evening for Army, Columbia, Cornell, Lehigh, Navy, Penn State, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania and Dartmouth.

Two of the strongest teams in the tourney, Army and Navy, have more veterans available from last year's championship matches than any of the other schools. On Army's eight-man team are five who competed last year at Philadelphia. Navy has four veterans from the '43 tourney, three of them defending champs in their classes and the only title holders entered in this year's competition.

Rosters of other teams were made up largely of Navy and Marine trainees with a sprinkling of civilian students. Lehigh entered the only all-civilian team in the tourney.

SIZE OF SCORE ONLY QUESTION FOR MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, March 10—The size of Michigan's winning score appeared today to be the only question needing an answer as Big Ten athletes rolled into Chicago for the 34th annual indoor track and field meet in the University of Chicago fieldhouse tomorrow.

A foregone conclusion was the fact that Michigan should win for the second straight year and the ninth time in 11 seasons. Also generally conceded was the possibility that the Wolverines would set a new point record by garnering more than a third of the 180 points available.

The lack of competitive interest in the meet centered attention on the chances of conference records being broken or tied.

DODGER HOPES DROOP AS BUMS MARCH TO WAR

NEW YORK, March 10—The hopes of the Brooklyn Dodgers took a nose dive today following the announcement by Branch Rickey that Billy Herman, Bill Lohman and Ed Head had been loaned to the Bums.

Rickey revealed that Herman is in the Navy and that Bill Lohman, a pitcher who takes his physical Monday. Head, who Rickey said he had counted on to be the club's No. 2 pitcher, has passed his physical for the Army and is waiting to be called.

CASH SUCCESS INDICATED FOR STATE TOURNEY

Gate Receipts For Both County And Sectional Events Soaring

COLUMBUS, March 10—If county and sectional tournaments are any indication, Ohio's 1944 basketball championships are destined to be big successes from a financial standpoint at least.

State Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend today told International News Service that gate receipts for both the county and sectional events are running well ahead of 1943 marks. Several tournaments, he said, have doubled their receipts and in the overall picture he estimated 90 percent of all tourneys will top last year's totals.

And it's really a "break" for the scholastic teams, too, because equipment and everything has been about twice as expensive this year in comparison with previous years. The general upswing in receipts will go a long way in helping to breach the gap, he said.

All Showing Gains

Although final reports on many events are still to be received, Townsend said he felt sure almost all tourneys would note increases this year.

There were 83 county class B affairs in the state this year and so far reports have been received from an even 50. The biggest increase of all, Townsend said, was recorded in the Tuscarawas county tourney. The six sessions of the down-state affair attracted 6,492 persons who paid $2,894.15 to witness unbeaten Sugar Creek-Shanesville sweep to its 24 straight triumph. The previous tourney high for Tuscarawas was set in 1942 when $1,952 was netted, the state athletic czar said.

Proportionate increases were made by at least six sectional tournaments. Townsend said only a half dozen of the state's 15 sectional events have mailed financial statements to his office so far and all of them have showed encouraging advancements.

1943 Mark Passed
 Townsend said he has received word from Edward B. Vonder Haar, manager of the southwestern district class B affair at Cincinnati to the effect that the queen city tourney already has outstripped the 1943 event from a financial standpoint.

"From the looks of things attendance is up throughout the state," Townsend said.

He predicted the regional tourneys would experience equally impressive increases. The state tourneys pose no attendance problem—at least from the standpoint of attracting capacity crowds. The real problem in this case is to find enough room to accommodate all those who want to go to the finals. The Ohio State university gym, where the Class B windup will be played, will accommodate only about 2,500 and the Columbus auditorium, site of the Class A event, will provide seats for upward of 4,000.

Despite the fact attendance increases are being registered all over the state, Uncle Sam—and not the scholastic teams—will benefit most. Commissioner Townsend explained the federal government will receive 10 percent of all gate receipts in the form of excise tax.

GREASE MONKEY SCHOOL

CHICAGO—Naval air transport service mechanics will be trained at the United Air Lines flight training center at Oakland, Cal., as a new feature of the company's war-aid activities, President W. A. Patterson of United announced this week. The company will enroll enlisted men from various naval air transport service squadrons and give them a 16-week course in all phases of aircraft mechanical work.

HE MAY HAVE SLIPPED

DON'T ALWAYS treat a good card player as if he has been playing perfectly. There are times when the best of them let their minds do a bit of wool gathering and make errors which you would not expect an ordinary one to perpetrate. When that occurs, give such a player a chance to suffer the punishment which his mistake deserves, instead of refusing to believe he has pulled a boner.

then ruff one with the dummy's J. That seemed fairly sound, but East over-ruffed the J with the Q.

If East had now returned a club, South would have wound up with one trick lost through the heart over-ruff, one in diamonds and two in clubs. East, however, decided somehow that a spade return was better. His 10 enabled South to use the A and K to discard a diamond and a club, so that South lost only one trick in each minor plus the one to the heart Q, and made his contract.

East could not believe that South was blank in spades. As he said later, he was sure South would have used the spades for discards as soon as he got into the dummy if he had been blank. Hence, he probably had two spades, and the return of them was innocuous.

LAMOUR ON KAYE SHOW

Sammy Kaye will have two popular feminine stars, Dorothy Lamour and Cass Daley, as his guests for the program to be heard next Wednesday at 7 p. m. over Columbia. For Dorothy Lamour this will be her first visit with the "swing and sway" maestro, Cass, who has made two consecutive appearances before, will play the role of the "mutual friend" and handle the introductions between Sammy and his new guest.

DENNIS DAY GUEST

Frank Sinatra will play host to his first fellow-singer, Dennis Day, when the young tenor heard regularly with Jack Benny turns up as guest on Sinatra's Wednesday night show, March 15. In lieu of the guest, Bert Wheeler who has taken on the position as manager for "The Voice," will look forward to a busy evening "protecting interests."

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Two soldiers were chatting before airmen at the premiere of the RCA Program—The Music America Loves Best, Saturday night at 8:30 p. m. over the Blue network. Suddenly guest star Jeanette MacDonald walked on stage. They clapped enthusiastically and the corporal asked his friend: "Remember when she visited our camp last August? You ought to," he said without waiting for an answer, "after asking a singer like Miss MacDonald to sing 'Jersey Bounce.' " "That's all right," said the serviceman, "didn't she tell me she most certainly would be glad to sing if she had heard of me before? I wouldn't be a bit surprised if she knows it now." The Corporal glared.

Like all successful stars, Bing Crosby is continually besieged by ambitious, would-be-warblers for help and advice. Last week when The Groaner arrived at the well-guarded NBC Studios in Hollywood to rehearse his broadcast, he was surprised to find a strange young man seated in his dressing room. Bing gave the stranger a friendly greeting, whereupon, the chap told him he wanted to get on the radio.

"I can sing as good as you do," he boasted. "How do I get started?"

Bing advised him to get an agent to handle me," the chap replied.

"Then try to get a job singing with a band," Bing suggested.

"That's easy enough for you to say," the fellow said belligerently. "How do I get in a band?"

"Well, how did you get in here?" Bing asked.

Ray Noble, whose orchestra is heard on the Bergen-McCarthy airshow is becoming a very worried maestro. As more and more men are drawn into the armed forces, musicians are becoming more scarce. Noble loses a man or two each week. Last Sunday, Hal Silvestro, a member of the orchestra who plays the saxophone, violin and flute, brought his 6-year-old son, David to the show's stage before certain time. The child amused himself playing the piano. As he finished, Mr. Noble exclaimed: "Well, I may have to hire him, if things get any worse!"

Dr. Frank Black in a salute to St. Patrick's Day has made a special original arrangement of "Shamrocks in Rednecks" which will be heard on his March 17 concert program.

Billy Mills, "Bobby McGee" orchestra conductor, this week put the final touches to a new song dedicated to Navy Nurses, entitled: "U X-Ray Me With Your I's."

PUBLIC PAYING LITTLE HEED TO POSTAL HOIST

Flood Of Returning Letters
Anticipated Starting

MANY TO BE SURPRISED

Survey Reveals Majority
Happily Unaware Of New
Drain On Cash

Postoffice employees of Pickaway county are girding for trouble, and plenty of it. New postal rates go into effect March 26, and with them headaches for Uncle Sam's postal employees.

"Everyone will forget the new rates or out of habit use the old rates," the mailmen moan. "That will mean cluttered offices, return of mail and packages, twice the work for clerks, angry citizens. We'll catch it plenty for the increases and for everyone's mistakes as well. No one will be to blame except us. Only redeeming feature is that we will be so busy we will not be able to listen to anyone."

Rates Published

The new rates have been published and posted and everyone should know them, but they do not, a survey Friday revealed. Plenty of citizens were not even aware that a change had been declared. Some of them will be trying to send 2 cent local letters a year from now. And the letters will bounce right back at them. The new rate will be three cents. Surprised?

The new rates and fees are published again in the interest of postal employees and citizens who wish toward its destination once they drop it in a mailbox or the postoffice.

First Class Raise

First-class mail for local delivery, 3 cents for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. Old rate was 2 cents.

Air mail, 8 cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Old rate was 6 cents. The rate of 6 cents for each half ounce or fraction will continue to apply to air mail sent to or by the armed forces of the United States overseas through army and navy postoffices.

Postage on all mail matter of the fourth class is increased approximately 3 percent and each fraction of one-half cent or more will be computed as 1 cent, but in no case will the increase per parcel be less than 1 cent. This means that on all parcel post packages on which postage in the past has been 49 cents or less, the increased postage will be 1 cent per parcel. Packages on which postage has been 50 cents to 83 cents will be 2 cents more in each instance. Parcels on which postage has been from 84 cents to 1 dollar will cost 3 cents more. All packages on which the postage has been 1 dollar or more, the increase will be three percent.

Insurance Hoisted

Fees for insurance of domestic mail matter of third and fourth class will be doubled. Registry indemnity, not exceeding $5, will be 20 cents, the old rate was 15 cents. Rates for other amounts run correspondingly high. Collection on delivery charges will be doubled.

Money order rates also will be boosted from 6 to 10 cents; 8 to 14 cents; 11 to 19 cents; 13 to 22 cents; 15 to 25 cents; 18 to 30 cents; 20 to 34 cents and 22 to 37 cents.

A new air mail stamp in the 8-cent denomination is now in the process of manufacture. It will be olive green and of the same size and design as the current 6-cent air mail stamp. This 8-cent stamp will remain on sale for use on air mail to the armed forces.

Democratic Contests To Provide Highlights Of Approaching Primaries

Contests within the Democratic party will provide the highlights of the coming primaries, it was indicated Friday with the arrival of the deadline for the filing of petitions by candidates.

Four Democrats are seeking nomination for two posts on the county commission and petitions were in circulation for Harold (Happy) Claypool, of Chillicothe, former congressman, and Mel G. Underwood, Jr., of New Lexington, for Democratic nomination to the congress. Walter Brehm, Republican, now serving in congress is a candidate to succeed himself.

CHOCOLATE EGGS, BUNNIES AGAIN AMONG MISSING

Chocolate Easter eggs, bunny rabbits, and similar chocolate novelties associated with the Easter season will be missing again from retailers shelves this year.

Cocoa beans, original commodity from which cocoa and chocolate are made, must be imported. Ocean shipping has improved with present controls over the submarine menace sufficiently to increase the volume of imports enough so that candy manufacturers and other users can use up to 80 percent of the amount of cocoa they used in their 1941 base period. But, the manufacturer of solid and hollow moulded chocolate novelty candies is still prohibited by Food Distribution Order 25.

"The direct war effort continues to have first claim of ocean shipping space," he commented. "There is not enough space to satisfy war needs and also to bring in all the cocoa beans importers and grinders could use. Government authorities report that consumer demand would take considerably more of the cocoa and chocolate used in 1941, if they were available."

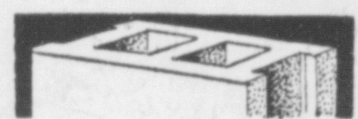

U. S. CONTROL OF BUSINESS AIRED FOR ROTARIANS

Rotarians heard a discussion of "Small Business and the Government" Thursday, the speaker being Victor Keys, of Columbus, president of the Ohio Cleaners and Dyers Association. Government control was criticised in many of its angles by Mr. Keys who said that business in general is looking forward to an end of the war and the return to American business practices.

Rotary voted a $75 donation to the Red Cross War Fund.
